BLANKETS.
We direct special attention to the value of this season's shipment. WE BUY FOR CASH, and the large percentage thereby saved is secured to the Customers who buy from us on the like terms. Perhaps in few things is the advantage of a cash system more apparent than in blankets, although every article we offer is brought under the same economising rule of sale. The magnitude of our supply fairly astonishes us, but we are confident of a clearance at the prices we are asking.

SHIRT DEPARTMENT.
Economy to be justly studied must be studied in connection with the smallest matters. Please note this, and then inspect our stock of Shirts as a clear demonstration of what can be saved on a single article of dress. We unhesitatingly affirm that a saving of 20 per cent. can be effected in this department, and our enormous sales justify the impression that this fact is becoming daily more known and appreciated. The repeated orders which every day brings to this counter are an evidence that our efforts are successful, and that in giving the quality we do at the lowest possible price meets the wishes of the buyer, who deserves to be well served inasmuch as he pays cash.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.
The Company's Estate is situated in the Parish of Teralba, county of Northumberland, and comprises an area of 2926 acres, or thereabouts, of coal land held as Mineral Conditional Purchases.
The property is distant about 12 miles from Newcastle, and about 1½ mile from the Government Railway Line.
It will be seen from the plan that this large Estate is bounded on the east and partly on the north by the land at present worked by the PROSPEROUS COLLIERIES of WALLSEND and DUCKENFIELD.
The Provisional Directors desire to draw the attention of investors to the following salient advantages of this property:—
1. It is a Freehold Estate. NO ROYALTY IS PAYABLE ON THE MINERALS RAISED.
2. That it contains a practically inexhaustible supply of proved coal; that the land is good, and is covered by a forest of valuable timber.
3. That the Estate is SUFFICIENTLY EXTENSIVE TO PERMIT OF LARGE AREAS BEING SOLD OR LEASED to other coal companies.
4. That coal from this Estate can be placed on board ship at Newcastle at a cost not exceeding that from any existing colliery, irrespective of its position, where royalties are paid. That the profits are likely to be large, and will be considerably increased by the sale of township allotments and the leasing of the surface.

Applications for shares must be made, accompanied by a deposit of 1s per share, and remitted to the London Chartered Bank, Sydney or Newcastle, or to the Brokers of the Company—viz., T. J. Thompson and Sons, Eldon-chambers, 92, Pitt-street, or Lewis P. Bain, 39, Exchange, Pitt-street, from any of whom prospectuses and forms of application can be obtained.
For full prospectus see Herald and Telegraph of 11th July.

THOUSANDS WILL READ THIS.
Oftimes the brow that seems so gay
Conceals a heart that pines away.
The public must be amused upon reading the numerous advertisements of persons who advertise money to lend; some pretend to be solicitors, others style themselves architects, some Christian gentlemen, others confidence, others tell you to apply to Box —, G. P. O., while others who possess a name (which would kill an applicant who suffered from heart disease) direct you to call and consult the manager. I desire the borrowing portion of our community to understand that I am prepared to advance £25,000 on freehold city property at 6 per cent.; also large or small sums on suburban property at 7 per cent. I release properties from the fangs of building societies, thereby giving the borrower a chance of some day calling the property his own. I also make liberal advances to builders as the work progresses at 7 per cent.; and all my business is executed with promptness, which gives general satisfaction. Persons desirous of borrowing money on their furniture cannot do better than call and consult me; for instance, I am the only financier in Sydney who transacts his business without publicity, and the interest charged is moderate in all cases. I discount promissory notes every day, and purchase or lend money on life interests, wills, and legacies. I also lend money on personal security, repayable by instalments if necessary. My customers consist of gentlemen of rank, bank managers, members of Parliament, barristers, solicitors, priests, merchants, and others. For further information call and consult me.

CONFERENCE ON SANITATION.

The conference on sanitation, begun in the Town Hall on Wednesday, under the auspices of the Institute of Architects, was resumed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, under the presidency of Mr. Thomas Rowe. There was an attendance of between 30 and 40 gentlemen, and it was noticeable that there had been a considerable addition to the display of lavatories, ventilating appliances, heating apparatus, &c., but these consisted almost exclusively of imported goods.

The PRESIDENT, in commencing the proceedings, expressed the pleasure he felt at seeing so many gentlemen as there were present taking a deep interest in the subject which had brought them together, and the gratification he experienced at finding that their display of sanitary appliances had been added to. It was the intention to invite several gentlemen to speak that afternoon upon sanitary matters generally, and to-morrow to confine their deliberations, for a portion of the time at least, to the subject of public instruction on sanitary matters; a portion of Tuesday next would be devoted to a pneumatic system of drainage, and on Wednesday it was probable they would deal with "Cremation," a subject on which several gentlemen were anxious to express their views. The conference would be careful not to lose sight of the general and great question of city sewerage; but it was also felt that they could not overlook those inventors, manufacturers, and importers who had been so good as to send the valuable exhibits now ranged round the room. It was proposed to afford them an opportunity of explaining the peculiarities of construction and the uses and advantages of the articles they had sent. He had been round the room and had carefully examined a number of the exhibits, which he had found to be very valuable from a sanitary point of view. He mentioned, as being a particularly valuable invention, a very simple pan closet which was used in New Zealand.

Dr. WILKINSON said it was with considerable pleasure that he was present that day. He took it that by their presence they were really conferring a benefit upon the community, and that that conference could not fail to strengthen the hands of the Government in vigorously pushing on with a comprehensive Health Bill. (Hear, hear.) By "health," of course, they meant that condition of body in which all its parts in their actions and interactions worked harmoniously for the good of the organism. Now they must not simply consider the body per se; there was also the outside world to be considered. Without the outside world the body could not live, though, perhaps, too often by reason of it, the body was forced to suffer and to die. The world outside of us and around us offered to the body the elements of life and health, but often this offering carried with it the elements of disease and death. Our atmosphere was vitiated with smoke and other products of combustion, and the exhalations from things that live and other things that have lived. Our food was oftentimes unsuitable and unwholesome. Our manner of life, our occupations, were often not in accordance with the strict principles of health. Those were things known to them all, and the discussion of which need not detain them. But as a matter of fact therein they might seek for the secret and for the germs of their diseases. Let them purify their atmosphere, supply good food, and provide healthy occupation for the body, and they had at once a very panacea to all those ills that the flesh is heir to. That day, however, they had met rather to consider that question in a practical manner. Now, for the purpose of effective action it was necessary they should know distinctly the object they had in view. Well, he considered that if they had met together for any purpose at all it was with a view to find out the best means for preventing and for arresting disease—(hear, hear)—since the prevention and arresting of disease was nothing more or less than the preservation of health. Now, in order to prevent anything it was necessary they should understand rightly the causes and conditions which led to its occurrence. It belonged specially to the profession of which he was a member, to seek to discover those causes of disease and their conditions. The members of that profession wanted to learn the conditions that were favourable, and those that were unfavourable, to the morbific agents. There was a disease right amongst the community which had established itself and flourished now almost unmolested and unheeded in our midst. So much had lately been written about that disease—typhoid fever—that few could be ignorant of its nature. Typhoid fever seemed, to medical men, one of the chief things that should be studied in Sydney, with a view to the prevention of disease. Now he, in his position at the University, had specially to teach what he knew about the cause and conditions of disease. If they examined such a disease as typhoid fever, with a view to finding out its cause, they certainly found it a difficult matter. He thought, however, he might say distinctly they knew something about its causation. Some medical men were inclined to disbelieve the germ theory of disease because in one or two cases valid arguments had been adduced against false cases. But a careful study of typhoid fever in Sydney, together with what he had learnt abroad, and the knowledge he had acquired, from the most recently published literature on the subject convinced him they were very near the actual cause of typhoid fever. Shortly he intended to make public what reasons he had for coming to that conclusion—(applause)—and then medical men would have an opportunity of controverting facts. He was very much inclined to believe that they had actually arrived at some definite result as to its cause. If they had really discovered some definite cause of typhoid fever then they had really taken the first step in bringing about its prevention. (Renewed applause.) He looked upon that cause as specific, and if those new ideas of later investigation were true, they must rather modify the general views with respect to typhoid fever, and its spread. It was generally believed that typhoid fever spread from the excretions of patients suffering from typhoid fever. That was true, but there was also good reason for believing that its spread was not only caused by the excretions, but also that the body of every one who died of typhoid fever became a source from which the disease might spread. (Hear, hear.) That certainly was a point which was decidedly in favour of the adoption of some method of disposing of the dead bodies—certainly, at least, of the bodies of persons whose death had been caused by typhoid fever, if not those of other individuals; he meant the method of cremation. (Hear, hear.) He would not discuss the question of cremation to-day, because he heard that it was to be discussed more fully next week. He might say, however, that he could not see in cremation anything barbarous, or anything that offended against good feeling, or even against religion. He had just spoken that afternoon from a general point of view, at the wish of the chairman. He had also intended saying something about the pneumatic system of drainage, which he had seen at work for six months during which he resided at Strasburg; but he had been induced by Mr. Backhouse, who was to introduce that subject at a subsequent meeting of the conference, to defer making his remarks until then. But upon the general question of sewerage and drainage, he would say that he was strongly of opinion that something should be forced upon the people by the Government. (Hear, hear.) In Sydney and the suburbs, especially the suburbs, the number of cesspits in existence was simply a disgrace, and a curse to the civilised community. (Hear, hear.) Putting aside the pneumatic system for a moment, one could see but two methods which could replace the cesspit system—a system that would have of necessity to be abolished. One was the pail system, and the other the water-closet system. Well, it seemed to him that the pail system was the one which was the most suitable for the outlying suburbs. He considered that the question as to which particular system should be adopted should be left to a certain extent to the discretion of the local authorities. There should be a combination among the individuals of the community to get rid of that terrible evil, the cesspit system; and then they should combine in order to introduce a system which would be certainly a benefit to themselves and to the people at large. (Loud applause.)

Mr. WILLIAM MARTIN expressed a hope that discussion on the subjects which they were now specially considering would result in there being submitted to Parliament a Health Act that would empower suburban councils to act as health boards. He thought that in regard to the consideration of sanitary matters the suburbs were to a certain extent overlooked. It was, after all, the suburbs which gave rise to the greatest amount of sickness. He pointed to the necessity of some measure similar to the City Improvement Act to control the growth of the suburbs. He urged that it should be compulsory by law for all proposed subdivisions of land to be submitted to some board appointed by the Government before those subdivisions were carried into effect. He mentioned the remissness and ignorance of some plumbers as a cause of the origin of disease, and described a case where, in connection with the erection of a new house, after receiving the assurance of the plumber employed about the work that he had trapped the kitchen sink, he examined the drainage and found that the plumber had not done that which he had represented he had done. He advocated that a board should be appointed to issue certificates to those plumbers who were able to pass the necessary examination, and that persons who could not produce such certificates should not be allowed to do any plumbing work.

Mr. LEOPOLD BARNETT spoke about the importance of having pure air, and of the necessity of having houses and other buildings properly ventilated.

Alderman DEAN detailed some of his experiences in Scotland, particularly with reference to a school-house which was devoid of proper means of ventilation—all the doors, and even the windows, being closed—the consequence of which was that the children for the most part showed the ill effects of the want of ventilation by flushed cheeks, sleepiness, and a marked disinclination for study. He spoke of the importance of the staircase as a "lung of the house," and urged that that part of the building in particular should be well ventilated.

Several exhibitors having described their exhibits, and a discussion of an unimportant character having ensued, the conference was adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

POLICE.

Mr. Buchanan, S.M., disposed of the business in the Charge Court at the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday, and Mr. Abbott, S.M., dealt with a number of cases in the Summons Court. A number of persons were fined for drunkenness and other minor offences. James Hartigan, 15, was charged, on the information of Inspector Webber, with having ill-treated a horse in Campbell-street. He was fined 40s., the cart to be detained until the fine was paid. Kate Carruthers, 19, was fined £5, in default three months' imprisonment, for having used obscene language in Castlereagh-street. Isabella Carter was also fined £5, in default three months' imprisonment, for a similar offence in King-street. She was sent to gaol for three months for having assaulted Constable Duncan. Joseph Hennessy was convicted upon two separate charges of having cruelly illtreated poultry, and was fined 20s. and costs, in default seven days' imprisonment, in each case. The information was laid by Inspector George Webber, and it was shown that the cruelty complained of consisted in the defendant having placed too many turkeys into a small box or case. A number of important cases were remanded.

Mr. G. W. F. Addison, S.M., sat in the Charge division of the WATER POLICE COURT yesterday, and dealt with a number of unimportant cases. Robert Linfoot, for assaulting Thomas Sheehan, within view of a constable, was fined 40s., or 21 days. Peter Hill and Frank M'Connell, absentees from the steamer Port Phillip, were sentenced to 14 days' gaol. Richard Parry, for a similar offence, was sent to Darlinghurst for a month. Henrietta Katman, who had been an unsuccessful litigant on the previous day, was fined 10s. for having, through violent conduct, caused a disturbance within the precincts of the courthouse whilst it was open to the public. In the Summons division, before Mr. Yates, D.S.M., August Olston was ordered to pay 10s. per week for 12 months towards the support of his four deserted children, together with £3 5s. 4d. costs. Inspector Waters proceeded against a large number of defendants for breaches of the bylaws. William Hooper, for having used abominable language, was fined £5, or three months. Agnes Watts, for permitting drunken persons to be upon her licensed premises, was fined £2 5s. 6d., or 14 days. Kate Hobson, Patrick Ryan, James Norton, and Kate Hayes were fined in sums ranging from 7s. 6d. to 12s. 6d. for Sunday trading. Paul Paoletti, at the instance of Inspector Atwill, was ordered to pay £3 4s. 10d., in default a month, for cruelty to a dog. The accused had thrown a carving-fork at the animal, which penetrated several inches deep into its back. Gustav F. Anderson, for having sold colonial wine after hours, was fined £4 5s. 6d. or a month's imprisonment. James Dynan and Patrick Dynan were fined, respectively, £3 2s. 6d. or a month, and £2 2s. 6d. or 14 days, for having resisted a constable. George Culvert and William Nutley, having been caught drinking liquor in a hotel on Sunday, were each fined 10s., and costs.

LICENSING COURT.

A quarterly meeting of the Licensing Court was held at the Water Police Office yesterday. The presiding magistrates were Messrs. Buchanan, Addison, and Johnson, S.Ms., Mr. Leopold Yates, D.S.M., and Mr. J. Macintosh, L.M. The application of John Donelan, 230, Forbes-street, for a license for a house in course of erection at Allison-road and Avoca, was objected to; the local option vote being 42 noes to 25 ayes, &c. The application was refused. An application by Thomas F. Strange for a license at Watson's Bay was also objected to, on the grounds that there were already three hotels, a wine shop, and a military canteen thereabouts; the local option also being in the negative. Application granted after the hearing of evidence. Leon Houreux, farmer, applied for a license for a house to be erected at Narrabeen. The application was granted, a police objection that the premises were not needed being overruled. The applications of Richard J. Coombes and Joseph Roberts, for wine licenses, were refused, and that of Archibald Macfarlane was granted. The application of Theodore Lang, for a license for No. 56, William-street, was opposed as unnecessary, there being three public-houses within 60 yards of the premises. Postponed for a week. The following transfers were granted:—Patrick M'Stalla to William A. Swann, Forth of Clyde Hotel, Balmain; Edgar W. Ashby to Henry Plowright, Cosmopolitan Hotel, Erskine and Clarence streets; Ellen Cleary to Thomas Smith, Victoria Hotel, Marshal-street; Charles H. Morris to J. R. Fenwick, Burton's Family Hotel, Burton and Riley streets; James O'Brien to William Hamilton, Cambridge Hotel, Cambridge-street. Packet licenses were granted to Charles Swanson, J. H. Amora, H. Chudleigh, R. A. Frazer, M. Prendergast, and D. Anthons. A billiard license was transferred to J. R. Fenwick, and a fresh one granted to James Walsh. A number of music permits, hawkers' licenses, &c., were also granted. Several applications for transfers of publicans' licenses were postponed for a week. The Court then adjourned until Thursday next. A sitting will take place at the Central Police Court on Tuesday next, at noon.

COLONIAL AND INDIAN EXHIBITION, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Shortly after the Commission for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition commenced its proceedings, the Department of Public Instruction, at the instance of the Committee on Education, communicated with the Public schools throughout the colony, with the view of obtaining selected specimens of the pupils' work, to be displayed at the exhibition. A number of specimens will probably be sent in, and as these will include examples of penmanship, drawing, mapping, &c., it will, of course, be necessary to inspect them before they are despatched to London. From one school in the Hunter River district alone, some 20 or 30 samples of the work performed by the pupils will be forthcoming.

Mr. Pryce, a member of the staff of the Commission for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, is at present visiting the Western townships from Dubbo to Penrith. He was at Dubbo on Tuesday, at Wellington on the following day, at Orange yesterday, and will be at Bathurst to-day and to-morrow. Several persons in Dubbo have signified their intention to send in exhibits for the forthcoming exhibition. Among other things, it is stated that the local photographers will furnish landscape views of the principal places of interest in the neighbourhood of the townships enumerated.

Mr. G. Herbert, of Cooma-street, Yass, has written to Mr. Cumming (secretary to the New South Wales Commission for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition), wishing to know whether it would be better for him to show certain landscape photographs of the scenery in the district on wall spaces or in an album. The secretary has replied to the effect that the views will be seen to far greater advantage on the walls of the New South Wales court of the exhibition, as in that case visitors will be enabled to perceive them readily; whereas if they were placed in an album only a few would be able to inspect them. This reply will serve as a guide to all those who purpose sending exhibits of a similar description.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT v. MOB RULE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I do not know whether the severe strictures contained in a letter that appears in your issue of this morning over the signature of "Citizen," have any reference to the part I with some others took in seeking to obtain a reprieve of the death sentence passed on the youth Johns. In any case I hope you will allow me space to refer to one or two of his statements. Your correspondent is an adept in the use of adjectives; for my own sake, and that of some others who interested themselves in the late agitation, I am glad to know that his facts are not equally strong. Passing over the vigorous language used, I wish simply to refer to one or two questions of fact.

Whatever some others may have done and said—and I repeat here, what I have stated elsewhere, that I have no sympathy with the bellicose utterances of some who have thereby rather injured than aided the condemned man's cause—from the first I have acted strictly within my rights as a citizen. Convinced in my innermost soul that this was a case in which the Royal prerogative of mercy ought to be exercised, I at once went to work to use all lawful means to secure that end. Not one of the 5700 signatures I obtained during the last few days was "demanded with clamour." The course I pursued was exactly that recommended by "Citizen" himself. Petitions were placed in the Wesleyan Book Depot, on the steps of my church in York-street, and at my residence; a few others were given to citizens of standing who were interesting themselves in the matter. Three thousand persons came voluntarily to the church steps and attached their names, and in no single case were "children" allowed to sign, as hinted at by your correspondent.

Are we to accept the dictum of "Citizen" that a meeting of 20,000 men, such as that held on Saturday last, convened by public advertisement and conducted with the utmost decorum, held for the purpose of ascertaining, by vote carefully taken, whether or no the Governor should be asked to exercise his prerogative of mercy, is to be construed into "the clamour of an irresponsible crowd" seeking to "override the decisions of our responsible Government"? I sincerely hope not. No one believes more thoroughly than I that the Governor and his Executive have striven to do their simple duty in this most painful case. But I think we shall have to re-write the history of New South Wales, to say nothing of that of the mother country, before we accept the idea—whether stated, as by your correspondent, with all the fancied force of adjectival iteration, or otherwise—that the right to petition and memorialise, by pen or speech, the Parliament or the Throne is not the legitimate right of the people. This is all that I and some others have striven to do in this case. Our petitions and memorials were simple prayers, couched in loyal and respectful language. And as to the great meeting of Saturday—to attend which I was led by a peculiar train of circumstances that I need not here narrate—I for one, and I am sure I do but voice the feelings of the clergymen and others who addressed that meeting, was moved by no other impulse than that of anxiety, not to over-ride the law of the land, but to use all legitimate means to influence the constituted authorities to put into force a power they possessed by virtue of their position.

In conclusion, permit me to say that no one regrets more than I the after action of some, whose proceedings have certainly laid them open to the strictures of your correspondent, "Citizen." I am, &c.,
W. G. TAYLOR.
Princes-street Parsonage, July 15.

[Would our correspondent like to see 20,000 people assembled to petition against the exercise of the prerogative of mercy, or two crowds, the one for and the other against, arguing the point at Government House gates, whilst his Excellency, with all the burden of responsibility resting upon him, was striving to come to a right conclusion?—ED. S. M. H.]

The barque Palace left Circular Head at 3.15 p.m. yesterday for Sydney with a cargo of potatoes.

The P. and O. Co.'s R.M.S. Rome, with the outward English mails, arrived at Adelaide yesterday morning and left again during the afternoon for King George's Sound.

The Tasmanian Steamship Company's steamer Flora arrived at Eden at 7 o'clock yesterday morning from Hobart, and sailed again for Sydney a little after 9 o'clock. She brings a considerable number of prize stud rams and ewes for the forthcoming sheep sales.

In his last monthly report, published on Wednesday, Mr. R. B. Wallace, of Newcastle, New South Wales, says:—"The business transacted here in charters since the issue of my circular on the 17th ultimo has been very limited indeed. The rates of freight are almost nominal, and one or two vessels have loaded on owner's account, not having been able to secure charters on anything like satisfactory terms. For San Francisco: The departures during the month have taken 6040 tons, and the ships now hereto load are estimated to carry 24,000 tons. For Hongkong: For the same period 7796 tons have gone forward. The ship Emily F. Whitney and steamer Taiwan are the only vessels here at present loading. For Manila: Three vessels have sailed, taking 6831 tons. Those now here under engagement will carry about 3700 tons. For Java: 8698 tons have gone forward, and the vessels now loaded and to load will carry 4500 tons. For West Coast, S. A.: Eight vessels have sailed with 9428 tons. Those now here to follow are estimated to take 6500 tons. Freights: Hongkong, 11s.; Manila, 13s.; Amoy, 15s.; Valparaiso, for orders, 9s. to 15s."

The steamer Currajong left Rockhampton at 7.30 a.m. on the 10th instant, reached Maryborough at 8.30 a.m. on the 11th, and left again at 6.30 a.m. on the 12th, arriving at Brisbane at 10.30 p.m. same day, left again at 10.30 p.m. on the 14th, passed Smoky Cape at 6 p.m. on the 15th, entered Port Jackson at 2.30 p.m. on the 16th, and arrived alongside the wharf at 3 p.m. Experienced moderate southerly winds to the Clarence, thence to Smoky Cape strong S.E. winds, with considerable sea, and from there to arrival moderate to fresh S.E. winds, with rain at intervals.

The steamer Barrabool left the wharf, Brisbane, at 2.25 p.m. on the 15th instant, rounded Cape Moreton at 6.35 p.m. same day, passed South Solitary at 0.40 a.m. on the 16th, Tacking Point at 7.10 p.m. same day, Port Stephens at 3.15 a.m. on the 16th, and arrived at Sydney at 10.15 a.m., experienced strong S.W. and south wind to Solitaries, and moderate S.E. and south wind accompanied with rain occasionally till arrival.

The barque Sir William Wallace, from Port Blakely, with lumber, was yesterday moved from below Garden Island to Pyrmont Bight, where she will discharge her cargo.

The American barque Nonantum, bound to San Francisco with coal, and the Norwegian barque Franziska, for Sourabaya, in ballast, were towed to sea yesterday.

The barque Conference, after having her bottom cleaned and painted, came out of Mort's Dock yesterday, and was towed to an anchorage in Johnston's Bay.

The four-masted barque Omeo, bound to Port Augusta, via Newcastle, was towed to the latter port last night by the steamer Phoebe.

The schooner Maria Virginia arrived yesterday from Mercury Bay with a full cargo of kauri, and was towed up to a berth at Russell's Wharf.

The steamship Delcomyn, which arrived yesterday afternoon, is from London, via the Suez Canal, Fremantle, Hobart, and Launceston, and has come here to take in cargo for Suva and Levuka, for which places she has on board at the present time 700 tons of general merchandise from London. The Delcomyn is still commanded by Captain A. Chapman, and he brings her into port in good order. He reports that the weather encountered on the voyage from London was very stormy, and the trip was thereby lengthened very considerably. After completing the discharge of her cargo for Launceston, the Delcomyn took in a large quantity of produce for this port, and sailed at 4 p.m. on the 14th instant, experiencing light variable winds and smooth water till arrival. She entered the Heads at 9 p.m., and was berthed at the Central Wharf at half-past 4. The Delcomyn will be in port for four or five days.

The steamer Coraki, from the Macleay River, crossed the bar on the 15th instant, at 11 a.m., and arrived at Sydney on the 16th, at 5.30 p.m. Experienced strong head winds with heavy sea to Seal Rocks, and moderate winds and weather from thence to arrival. Cargo: 977 bags maize, 79 pigs, 43 hides, 15 cases eggs, 6 coops fowls.

The ship Siren cleared at the Customs yesterday for San Francisco. She takes 1300 tons coal.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY EVENING.

In the Stock and Share market to-day a moderate amount of business was transacted. In banks, New South Wales were dearer; Steam and Insurance stocks unchanged. In miscellaneous stocks, Gaslight (new issue) were rather dearer, City Carrying also being firmer. Band and Albion Gold were somewhat stronger. The following sales were reported:—Mercantile Bank, £5 19s. 6d.; Bank of New South Wales, 59; Queensland National Bank, £9 13s. 6d.; Shale and Oil, 8s.; Mercantile Building and Investment Company, 20s.; Stockton Coal (20s. paid), 23s.; Sunny Corner Silver, £5 4s., £5 5s.; Band and Albion Gold, 84s. Closing quotations were:—

The half-yearly meeting of the City Bank will be held to-morrow (Friday) at noon.

The advisability of establishing a clearing-house, in connection with the daily settlement of exchanges between the banks, is, we understand, again engaging the attention of bank managers in this city.

In the Import markets to-day trade was quiet, the reports generally being that there was nothing doing. The demand for flour was light, and the trade were supplied for immediate requirements at prices indicating a steady market. By rail during the week, 285 tons of flour and 52 tons of wheat were delivered. From intercolonial ports we have received 1205 tons flour and 868 tons wheat. The quantity exported was 118 tons. In tea, nothing of importance transpired. The quittance of a small line of ration sugar is mentioned. The lower qualities of ration are moved with difficulty, but there is a rather better inquiry for bright yellows; dark sugar is scarcely salable, except for refining purposes. The day's business in other lines of groceries disclosed no special feature, the demand being inconsiderable. There is no improvement noticeable in the trade in brewers' goods; buyers are apparently holding off. In liquors there was a moderately good inquiry for Hennessey's brandy, both single and three-star, the market being firm at late rates. Second-class brandy in limited request; and beyond the quittance of a small parcel in flasks no business of importance transpired. A considerable line of port wine of medium quality changed hands. Bottled ale receives only moderate attention; M'Ewan's noticed at agents' prices. The large stocks of Pig stout still give the market a depressed tone; 9s. 9d. for quarts and 6s. 9d. for pints are the ruling quotations. Metals are unaltered in value in any line. The speculative movement in sheet lead still leaves the market in an unsettled condition. In jute goods, 1s. 11d. to 2s. is quoted for woolpacks. Some business was done in cement at up to 15s. 6d.

Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co. held their fortnightly wool and sheepskin sale to-day. The wool catalogue consisted of scoured and fellmongered parcels, together with a few odd lots of greasy. Among the principal brands sold were—RJ over H, 28 bales scoured first skins at 14¼d., 7 second skins at 9½d.; Athilbah, 6 first comb. at 14¾d., 10 first clo. at 15½d., 6 A lambs at 12½d., first lambs at 11½d., A at 13d., locks at 7½d.; A3, greasy at 6¼d. Sheepskins were in good supply and a large catalogue was cleared at for—Short, 2d. to 8d.; medium, 8d. to 4½d.; full-woolled, up to 5½d. per lb.

Messrs. F. L. Barker and Brunker and Wolfe held sales of sheepskins to-day. Competition was keen, and prices rather firmer. Best skins sold to 5½d., medium from 3½d., and pelts from 1½d. Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report that at their sale of green sheepskins to-day there was an increased demand, and they disposed of 1469 skins at 8s. to 3s. 4d. for best, and 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d. for medium.

At the Homebush fat stock sales to-day 1239 head of cattle and 15,330 sheep were yarded, and the market was weaker for both classes, as will be seen from details elsewhere.

Messrs. Wilkinson, Graves, and Lavender will hold a sale of stud sheep to-morrow (Friday) morning, at the wool stores of the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited. The catalogue includes Roberts' American and other pure-bred animals.

The following is a return of produce received at Darling Harbour Station per rail for the week ended July 16:—

Wheat, 52 tons 4cwt.; flour, 285 tons 12cwt.; sharps, 7 tons; maize, 4 tons 18cwt.; meal, 12cwt.; potatoes, 15 tons 9cwt.; bran, 81 tons; pollard, 29 tons 19cwt.; hay, 167 trucks; straw, 63 trucks; chaff, 134 trucks; wool, 605 bales; sheepskins, 87 bales; kegs of butter, 230; cases of butter, 195; cases of cheese, 8; bags of bacon, 20; sides of bacon, 59; cases of eggs, 210.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1885.

It has been generally understood that the Government of this colony had practically dropped the Federal Council of Australasia Constitution Bill. The Governments of other colonies have at times been more or less busily engaged in discussing between themselves, and with their Agents-General and the officials of the Colonial Office, the amendments which Lord DERBY had proposed to make in the measure. But, inasmuch as the Parliament of this colony had not joined in the request to her MAJESTY that such a bill should be introduced in the Imperial Parliament, our Government refrained from taking the same active part in this by-play as was taken by the Governments of the colonies that had sent the request. Our Government had a right to take a full part, for the bill purported to deal with the affairs of Australasia, and its passing would affect the position and relations of New South Wales as of every colony in the group. But as a matter of fact, we believe our Government did not; and the bill has been brought before the Imperial Parliament by the Conservative Ministry with little or no interference from the Ministry here. It was to have been considered in committee this week, but for some reason it stands over until next Monday. Meanwhile, correspondence on the subject between Sir A. STUART and Mr. SERVICE has been resumed, a prior communication having been sent by the former to our AGENT-GENERAL. We publish elsewhere a copy of the telegram sent by Sir A. STUART to Mr. SERVICE, which indicates the substance of the message to Sir SAUL SAMUEL. We also publish a telegram from Melbourne purporting to give a description of that message which had been forwarded to Mr. SERVICE by Mr. MURRAY SMITH. It will be seen that the versions vary. As Sir A. Stuart was the sender of the message, we prefer his as the more likely to be correct.

The point under notice is the 31st clause, which was added by Lord DERBY with the view of gaining for the bill the approval of New South Wales and New Zealand. After all the official manipulation the bill has undergone, we cannot undertake to say what is the precise form in which it now appears; but it would probably be substantially correct to describe the 31st clause as giving to any colony that had joined the Union power to withdraw and to be also free from the operation of Acts previously passed by the Union Parliament. Mr. SERVICE is understood to have said that, with this clause added, the bill would not be worth passing. Sir A. STUART leaves it to be inferred that if the bill pass without this clause he will not submit it to our Parliament. He tells Sir SAUL SAMUEL that in his opinion the bill will not be accepted by this colony without this clause; and it is not venturing very far into the province of prophecy to say that his opinion is a sound one. But it is right to understand that this negative view of the bill without the clause does not carry with it any positive implication as to the probable fate of the bill here with the clause added. Sir A. STUART did well to guard himself with the remark, "I cannot say that this colony will accept it even then;" and it is to be hoped that somebody will endeavour to make it clear to the House of Commons that New South Wales would not in any way be committed to the acceptance of the bill by the passing of the clause in question. The PREMIER has a right to pledge himself to re-submit the bill in that case, but he has no right to pledge the colony to the surrender—through this bill—of one jot of its present powers of self-government, or freedom from the risk of interference by representatives of other colonies in its policy or its affairs. All he can say is, that were this clause carried, he would be "willing again to submit it to Parliament for consideration." We repeat those words "for consideration," for there should be no mistake as to what they mean. This is a constitution bill, to affect the position and government of the colony; but Sir A. STUART cannot undertake to submit it for consideration in the way in which any constitution bill touching even indirectly, remotely, or contingently the rights and liberties of this colony, ought to be considered. He will only be able to submit it as an Imperial Act, which will be as far beyond the reach of modification here to suit local views as the latest English measure of electoral reform is. Instead of asking Parliament to consider this bill, in the ordinary sense of the word, he will ask Parliament to pass a resolution, or a bill of a single clause, to accept the Act and bring it into force in the colony, just as it may stand—with all its faults. For, be it observed, the addition of the 31st clause would not cure the faults by which the measure is characterised. The 31st clause would not change the character and scope of the bill. It would provide any colony, that had been forgetful enough of its independent position to place itself within the jurisdiction of the Council, with a means of escape. But it would not eliminate from the bill the fundamental mistake of providing for the creation of a Council of thirteen, to be or become the supreme Legislature of Australasia. It would be folly to give any sanction to such a project as that, on the ground that having helped to call the Council into existence, we should have power to withdraw from its influence immediately afterwards, and to look on complacently while it crumbled to pieces.

The report of the UNDER-SECRETARY FOR MINES for 1884, an abstract of which was published in our issue of yesterday, gives a clear and comprehensive description of the condition of the mining industry in the colony. Excluding the item concerning the experiments that are being made in the interior for the discovery of water—an industry which is under the control of the Mines Department, but which, so far, has had no bearing of importance upon mining—the principal features of the report are the steady progress of the coal trade, the rapid expansion of silver-mining, and the decadence of the gold, and copper, and tin industries.

The report shows that, compared with the export of minerals in 1883, there was a considerable falling off in 1884. The decrease, however, did not extend to all our mineral products, as the export of coal showed an increase for the year of upwards of 200,000 tons, and the export of silver and silver-lead ore an increase of 25,000 ounces. Copper, tin, and gold are responsible for bringing down the returns. The value of the copper exported last year was £302,965 less than the value of the metal sent away in 1883; the value of the tin was £161,022 less, and that of the gold £63,217. The decline in the copper and tin exports was caused, first of all, by the general depression in trade both in Europe and America, then by the drought which prevailed all over this colony, and, in the case of tin, by the exhaustion of several of the lodes. American commerce having become partly stagnant, when a wave of depression was passing over the trade of Great Britain, manufacturing declined, and large quantities of copper, which in more favourable circumstances would have been worked up in the country, were exported to England, the consequence being a steady and continuous fall in the price of the metal. By the end of last year the decline had reached a point it had never previously touched. The effect on copper-mining shares in this colony was to reduce them seriously, and to limit the output from the mines. There is every reason for believing that in the course of a few months the industry will recover tone. So far as the quantity of copper is concerned, the country has never been better off than it is at the present time. Each of our principal mines has been thoroughly tested by the Government Inspector, and is known to contain what appears to be almost unlimited supplies of ore; and when trade revives in England, our annual export of copper may be expected to increase greatly beyond that of 1883. Concerning tin—which, by the way, has steadily improved in price during the past few weeks—the report informs us of lodes that are considered likely to prove permanent to great depths.

The decline in the gold industry is almost general, and has been caused by the increased barrenness of some of the permanent lodes, the exhaustion of several alluvial diggings, and the drought, which interfered seriously with mining operations. The number of gold-mining divisions included in the report is 40. Of these, only 13 produced more gold in 1884 than in the previous year, and in some of these cases the increase was insignificant. The aggregate increase was 9025oz.; the aggregate decrease, 25,870oz. The returns from Adelong alone show a decrease for the year of 5689oz. There is nothing to cause uneasiness in all this. Amongst mineral industries, gold-mining is the most fluctuating. In previous years the Adelong reefs have pinched out or become barren, but persevering labour has been rewarded by the rediscovery of the gold. And it can hardly be that we have found out all the alluvial patches in which the precious metal has been deposited by Nature. The report contains an estimate of the earnings of the people engaged in gold-mining. The estimate is based upon the returns of the Mining Registrar, and the calculation is that the income averages only £65 1s. 1d. per man per annum. It will be seen from this that whatever may be the fascinations connected with gold-mining, the employment is one of the least profitable in which a man could engage.

In connection with mining, the great feature of the past year was the remarkable development of the silver industry. The full significance of that we have not yet apprehended. Probably we have been more affected by the reports that reach us of the silver mines in the Sierra Nevadas in America than we are by the silver discoveries in our own territory. Yet our deposits of silver are not inferior to those in any other part of the world. The figures quoted in Mr. Harrie Wood's report are themselves sufficient to fire the ordinary imagination; but the statements of Mr. Wilkinson, the Government Geologist, are even more significant than those figures. He has thoroughly examined the silver lodes in the Barrier Ranges. He is of the opinion that the lodes will continue to great depths, that many more lodes will be discovered, and that silver-mining in that part of the colony will become an important and permanent industry. Silver ore is a refractory mineral to smelt, but the difficulties in this direction have almost been overcome, and when they are completely conquered, as they are expected to be in the course of a few months, the export of silver from this colony may be expected to increase until it equals the production in America.

The least attractive of our minerals is coal, but it is, beyond all comparison, the most valuable. Regarded from the profitable standpoint, our principal minerals take the following order: coal, tin, gold, and copper. The value of the coal produced in the colony during the last ten years is £9,026,112, the value of tin £5,652,600, and the value of gold £5,187,932. And there is no probability of the coal being soon deposed from its proud position. Progressiveness has been the feature of the trade during the past year. Examining the report, the impression is left on the mind that the Southern coal brings a higher price than the Northern, the figures given being 10s. 4d. per ton for the former, and 9s. 10d. per ton for the latter. There is really a difference of a couple of shillings a ton in favour of the Northern coal; the explanation of the apparent mistake, which the report does not give, is that the Northern colliery proprietors sell the small coal, whereas in the Southern districts the bulk of that kind of coal is thrown away. The remarks on the shale industry are interesting, and it will gratify the public to know that the demand for the products of the Kerosene Oil and Mineral Company is far greater than it can supply.

The report informs us that at present the colony is producing fourteen distinct minerals of considerable value. That the people are determined to throw themselves energetically into the development of the mining industry is apparent from the number and extent of the applications for leases of mineral lands made last year. They include 20,000 acres for silver-mining, and nearly 12,000 acres for gold and tin and diamond mining. And it is satisfactory to know that by the amendments of the Mining Act passed in 1884, and by increased activity on the part of the officials, the Parliament and the Mines Department have done what they could to accelerate the development of this important industry.

In one particular, and so far, it would seem, in one only, have the English Conservatives departed from the course followed by the Liberals. No sooner were they in their places than they decided on appointing a Royal Commission to inquire into the causes of the existing depression in trade. This is not only a divergent policy, it is one in a party direction. In Central Asia, and, so far as we have yet gathered, in Egypt, the present Government propose to do very much as their predecessors did. Even in the matter of the Budget, on which the late Ministry was defeated, in all essential points Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, has decided to follow the line laid down by Mr. Childers. The Liberals proposed to increase the army, and we are now told that for this purpose the Conservatives have asked the House for a vote of credit, which will enable them to increase it by 35,000 men. In regard to Ireland, the new Government have announced an amending policy, but it is not a policy of their own. The doctrine that the ordinary law is enough for Ireland is the Radical doctrine, and it is the one which the Conservatives have strongly opposed. But the proposal to inquire into the causes of the existing trade stagnation is a truly Conservative proposal. Some such inquiry Lord Salisbury and his followers have been asking for for some time past, but as long as the Liberals were in power they failed to get what they wanted. A short time ago the Opposition in the House of Commons sought to get up a debate on the subject, and they were able to point to some very plausible reasons for one. As to both the reality and the extent of the depression, on which the Tories have so frequently enlarged, there can be no dispute. Not only is there a widespread stagnation—so far at least as one section of the community goes—there is a stagnation which threatens to last. In this particular the Tories had a case. To all their demands, however, Mr. Gladstone turned a deaf ear. It was in vain that Lord Salisbury dwelt on the sorrows of the farmers and the manufacturers. The Liberals admitted the facts of their opponents, but refused to admit the soundness of their argument.

The argument is that the trade of England is depressed because the English producer is handicapped by the foreign producer. At first sight a proposal to inquire into the origin of the industrial troubles of the mother country looks not only a simple, but a most beneficent one. What could be more natural than such an inquiry? If there be no doubt as to the fact of the stagnation, a little light upon the cause of it must be good for all parties. If it be said that the Royal Commission is a blind, and that what Lord Salisbury wants is not light on the working of the existing fiscal system, but some pretext for changing it for another, it is replied that Lord Salisbury has never said that he wants to revive the Corn Laws, and that he has always protested that what he desires is to improve the existing machinery rather than to destroy it. Even free-trade journals—although they have generally been free-trade journals with strong Conservative leanings—have maintained that, sound as they believe the doctrine of free trade to be, there is no solid ground for refusing to inquire whether experience is showing that it is as sound as it is supposed to be. All parties, they say, should be the better for inquiry. And no doubt all parties would be the better for an inquiry that would be impartial, and that would be conducted for public and not for mere party purposes. But that is not the kind of inquiry that the Conservatives have been asking for, and no one will believe that it is the one that they propose to institute. Their object, if we may judge from the tenor of their speeches, is not so much to get at facts as to establish a case. It is quite true that the leaders of the party have not ventured to advocate a return to protection. On the contrary, some of them have contended that it is to the Conservatives that England is indebted for her free trade.

In regard to matters of this kind, Tory reasoning can be very elastic. The other day Lord Salisbury contended that the country was indebted to the Conservatives for the Franchise and the Redistribution Acts, which is certainly true in the sense that, after fifteen or twenty years of opposition, the Conservative majority in the House of Lords allowed these measures to pass, but in no other. And in a recent speech to his constituents Sir Stafford Northcote reminded his hearers that it was a Tory, not a Liberal, Minister that repealed the Corn Laws, forgetting, or at least omitting to say, that that Minister repealed the Corn Laws in spite of, and not by the assistance of, his party, and that for what he did his party disowned him. The truth is that, although some of the Conservatives have been free-traders by profession, they have shown that they are protectionists at heart. They have not ventured to urge the adoption of a protection that is pure and simple, although some of their leaders have gone to even that length. Mr. James Lowther, a prominent member of the Tory party, is reported to have said that he wishes for a fixed duty of five shillings a quarter on corn. It is fair to say that though desiring a duty on corn, even Mr. Lowther has no wish to raise the price of the people's bread, but the explanation is to be found in the protectionist doctrine that the putting of a heavy tax on a commodity has not the effect of increasing its price. Men like Mr. James Lowther ask the masses of Great Britain to believe either that the putting of a tax on foreign wheat would not tend to increase the price of homegrown wheat—in which case the duty would do nothing for those who are clamouring for it—or that, although under a protective system the farmers would get more for their wheat, the people would pay no more for their bread, which means that while protection would put more money into the pockets of the farmers it would take no more out of anybody else's pockets.

It is, however, only among the extreme men of the Tory party that so undisguised a form of protection has been advocated. The more cautious followers of the present Premier tell us, indeed, that they do not want protection at all. The true name for what they contend for, it is claimed, is fair trade, and by fair trade is meant reciprocity, the putting of duties on French and American commodities, for example, when France and America put them on British commodities. That, we are asked to believe, is not protection, but fair trade. But whatever may be its proper name, it is chiefly the Tories who are responsible for it. The reciprocity movement has been a Conservative movement, and the movement has been countenanced by Lord Salisbury. In the tariff debate on which the late Government was defeated, it was urged that the Government had failed to increase the duty on wine, which is a foreign commodity, while it had added to the duties on beer and spirits, which are articles of home manufacture. This is truly a protectionist or a reciprocitist argument, and if the Conservatives had been consistent they would at once have altered Mr. Childers' proposals by substituting for the higher duty on beer and spirits a higher duty on foreign wines. They will of course do nothing of the kind. Nor, now that they are in office, are they likely to apply the remedy for trade depression which they sought when in Opposition. They will not venture to institute reforms—they will make inquiries. A Royal Commission will not offend free-traders, and it will raise the hopes of protectionists. It will show Conservatives that the new Government are not unmindful of the interests of their party, and it may convince persons who are not Conservatives that they are thinking of the troubles of their country. The appointment of the commission may prove a good electioneering manœuvre, and that may be all that it is intended to be.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Our cablegrams this morning contain matters of considerable interest, especially as regards affairs in Afghanistan, which are once more beginning to assume a serious aspect. Russia, we learn, claims the practical command of Zulficar, and indeed her troops, to the number of about 8000, are already reported to be in the immediate vicinity of that place. The Czar has made an offer to refer the question to the commission, but Lord Salisbury declines to accept the offer. In the meantime Captains Yates and Peacock have gone to Herat, to which place the British Commission, under Colonel Ridgeway, are moving, doubtless with the intention of making it their headquarters. The aspect of affairs is evidently considered ominous in London, as there has been a decline in the value of Consols. The whole of the European Powers, with the exception of Russia, have agreed to the issue by England of an Egyptian loan, which is looked upon as a triumphant piece of statesmanship on the part of Lord Salisbury.

We are informed that the following telegram was sent yesterday morning by the Colonial Secretary to the Premier of Victoria:—"Telegraphed to Samuel yesterday my opinion that Federal Council Bill will not be accepted by this colony if 31st clause be left out; also, if subsection I. of clause 15 is governed by two Legislatures instead of all. I cannot say that this colony will accept it even then, but I would be willing again to submit it to Parliament for consideration. In the present form, and without clause 31, such submission would be useless; and without New South Wales and New Zealand the Council, whatever it would be, would not be truly a Federal Council of Australasia. I have just received a telegram from the Agent-General that consideration of the bill in committee has been postponed until Monday." The 31st clause referred to, as originally proposed, is as follows:—"This Act shall cease to be in operation in respect to any colony in which the Legislature shall have passed an Act or ordinance declaring that the same shall cease to be in force therein; provided, nevertheless, that all Acts of the Council passed while this Act was in operation in such colony, shall continue to be in force therein unless altered or repealed by the Council." On reconsideration, however, the late Government thought it better to omit the proviso.

The Attorney-General was able to be in attendance, yesterday, at the office of the Colonial Secretary, and had an interview with the medical adviser to the Government relative to the Public Health Bill, which it is proposed to submit to Parliament immediately after its meeting.

In a report of the proceedings at a meeting of the Patriotic Fund Committee which appeared in our last issue it was made to appear that a motion with regard to providing for the Sessle family had been held over for a month. Those referred to were the Capel children. The sum appropriated towards annuities for the Sessles, as would have been seen, was increased from £200 to £300. Mr. Pile was the member of committee who referred to a suggestion made by some correspondent that a public meeting should be convened in connection with the disposal of the fund.

The Conference on Sanitation was continued at the Town Hall yesterday, but, apparently owing to the absence of any scheme, the discussion was of a general character, and no conclusions were arrived at. The Conference will be resumed at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

The leases of the jetties at the Circular Quay, from Manly Beach to North Shore inclusive, which expire on the 31st instant, have been renewed for a further period of five years, at rentals considerably in advance of the rates now being paid, and with a proviso that the premises built as waiting-rooms for the use of passengers shall be cleared of all obstructions, such as fruit stalls, bird cages, shops, &c., and that the coal-bunks on the jetties shall be removed. It will be seen from the above that the convenience and comfort of passengers will be much more greatly consulted in the future than they have been in the past.

The secretary to the committee appointed at a public meeting to make the necessary arrangements in connection with the banquet which is to be given, at the Exhibition building, on the 28th instant, to the men who composed the Contingent, has been in communication with the Commissioner for Railways regarding the granting of free passes to members of the Contingent who may be in the country, and may wish to attend the banquet. Mr. Goodchap has written complying with the request, but points out that, with a view to prevent the Railway Department from being imposed upon, it will be necessary for the applicants to produce their certificate of discharge issued in connection with the disbandment of the corps, or other sufficient proof of their identity. We understand that the response from the public has not yet been sufficiently liberal to provide for meeting the whole of the expenses in connection with the proposed dinner, including the cost of the medals, a large sum still being required. It is hoped, however, that the necessary further contributions will be sent in within the next day or two, and the committee thereby relieved of a responsibility which at present confronts them.

We are informed by Surgeon-Major Williams that the remainder of the men belonging to the New South Wales Contingent who were left at Quarantine Station suffering from enteric fever were discharged yesterday. Corporal Russell was handed over to his friends in Sydney, but Privates Jackson and Russell, whose homes are some distance in the country, were sent to Little Bay for a short time, in order that they might gain a better state of strength and health before being sent on a long journey. Lance-Corporal Clarke and Private Lloyd, who have had the hospital charge of those left behind, proceeded to Victoria Barracks and were discharged to-day.

Mr. J. B. Olliffe, M.L.A., having interested himself in regard to procuring additional facilities for the public to obtain tram tickets, has received the following letter from the department:—"With reference to your personal interview representing the necessity for further conveniences being supplied to enable the public to obtain tram tickets in the neighbourhood of Gipps-street, I have the honour to inform you that we find some difficulty in procuring suitable agents, but one has been appointed in Foveaux-street and another in George-street, and others will be appointed when they can be secured. D. Vernon."

The following is a copy of a letter received by Mr. Hugh Taylor, M.P., in reply to representations made by him concerning the insufficient means of ingress and egress to and from the Parramatta railway station:—"Department of Public Works, Railway Branch, Sydney, July 14, 1885. Sir,—With reference to your letter of the 25th ultimo, representing the inconvenience to which railway travellers are subjected at Parramatta owing to the insufficiency of means of ingress and egress to and from the station, and suggesting that turnstiles be provided on the southern side, I have the honour to inform you that the matter has been considered, and Mr. Secretary Wright has approved of a compliance with the request. I have, &c., C. A. Goodchap, Commissioner."

The stud sheep sales will be commenced this morning at 10 o'clock, by Messrs. Wilkinson, Graves, and Lavender, in the stores of the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Company. Their catalogue not being large, it should be closed before noon, when Messrs. Fisken, Gibson and Co. (with Messrs. Raleigh, Aitken and Co.) are to open their sale in Goldsbrough's wool warehouse, Darling Harbour. Stud sheep from Victoria, South Australia, America, and the interior of this colony are the attractions of to-day's programme. On the second day of the sales, next Tuesday, Messrs. Mort and Co. will submit drafts from the best stud flocks of Tasmania, Queensland, and this colony, the sale of which will be concluded before Thursday morning, when Messrs. Brunker, Wolfe and Co. are to commence the clearing of their catalogue, which also contains many tempting particulars. A small lot of South Australian rams from the Hon. G. C. Hawker's stud flock, which are in the hands of Messrs. Ryan, Hammond, and Donkin for sale, will be included in Messrs. Mort and Co.'s catalogue. All the sheep for sale during the fair are now ready for inspection, and form a very interesting exhibition.

Yesterday evening the weather cleared up, after being wet and stormy since Sunday last, and the night was clear and calm, with an almost cloudless sky. The rain has been confined to the coastal districts, and has only extended from Wollongong on the south to Clarence Heads on the north, the amount of rain which fell at the two places being 0·24 inches and 0·32 inches respectively; while at intermediate stations the gauge showed:—Sydney, 2·68 inches; Newcastle, 4·27 inches; and Port Macquarie, 3·87 inches. On the mountains but little rain fell, as may be judged from that at Mount Victoria, where only 0·64 inch is reported. The reports received from the various stations along the coast last night showed that the weather had become fine at all of them, with the exception of Port Macquarie, where it still continued showery. In the city some of the streets have been rendered very sloppy. At the Circular Quay, particularly in front of the Custom-house, the mud accumulated to such an extent as to render it extremely disagreeable to anyone who had business in the neighbourhood; and the approach to the Custom-house was little better than a quagmire, through which all had to wade who had business inside.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce, desirous of expressing their appreciation of the services of Mr. Charles H. Hayes, the late secretary of the chamber, have decided on presenting him with a piece of plate, on his resigning the important position. The presentation will take place on this (Friday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce, Exchange.

The Forbes Pastoral and Agricultural Association's twelfth annual exhibition will be held on the 13th and 14th proximo. Entries are to close on the 7th proximo. The schedule of classes contains particulars of prizes the total value of which is about £340. A trial of sheep dogs, which will take place on the second day of the exhibition, is likely to prove one of the most interesting features of the meeting.

The services in connection with the opening of the new organ in St. John's Church of England, Glebe Point, have been unavoidably postponed until Thursday evening next, on which occasion the Primate of Australia will preach the sermon.

In connection with the Christian Evidence Society, a class is about to be established for the study of Christian evidences, and a meeting for that purpose will be held this evening at 8 p.m. in the hall adjoining the Pitt-street Congregational Church, at which those desirous of joining are invited to attend. An intimation to that effect appears in our advertising columns.

The usual weekly meeting of the Women's Prayer Union, Unsectarian, was held in the Protestant Hall, Castlereagh-street, on Thursday last. About 300 ladies assembled to hear an address from Mrs. Leavitt, the temperance lecturer, who gave a very interesting account of the great work now being done in the States of America, and spoke of the influence exercised by ladies in the temperance cause. In one place ladies interviewed every voter in the State. One lady alone gained 5000 votes. She urged upon ladies to begin in their homes first. Mrs. Leavitt spoke for some time, and said that at some other time she hoped to speak on prohibition, local option, &c. The meeting closed with the benediction.

It will be remembered that some short time ago two young men, named respectively Arthur Reynolds and John Brickett, employed on the Government tramways, were accidentally maimed while in the performance of their duties, and rendered unfit, by the loss of a leg each, to follow their ordinary occupations. Some friends undertook to collect subscriptions on their behalf, which were generously responded to, and a concert was also organised in aid of the fund, the result of the combined efforts being that a sum of £165 14s. was collected by the treasurer, Mr. T. R. Osborne, and the amount has been handed over to the young men aforementioned. In another column will be found a list of the subscribers to the fund and other particulars connected therewith, and we are in receipt of a letter from Messrs. Reynolds and Brickett, tendering their warm and heartfelt thanks to those who so kindly and generously subscribed to the fund, to the committee, whose exertions they gratefully acknowledge, and also to those who gratuitously gave their professional services on the occasion of the concert.

It will be remembered that at the late sittings of the Central Criminal Court at Darlinghurst seven prisoners, named respectively Robert Twyford, David Weir, Edye Henwood, Michael Ryan, George William Seymour, William Turbett, and Daniel Grant, were convicted before his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer and sentenced to death on a charge of committing a rape upon a woman named Janet Oliver, at Wyndham, on the 8th of February last. His Excellency the Governor, however, with the advice of the Executive Council, was pleased on the 17th June to commute the capital sentence in each case as follows, viz.:—Robert Twyford, David Weir, Edye Henwood, Michael Ryan, and George William Seymour to imprisonment, in each case for 10 years with hard labour, and to receive two floggings of 25 lashes each, the first flogging to take place on July 16, and the second at the expiration of nine months thereafter; William Turbett and David Grant to imprisonment for five years, in each case with hard labour, and a flogging of 25 lashes on July 16. With reference to the foregoing, some days ago a communication was received by the Sheriff, Mr. Charles Cowper, to the effect that his Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, had been pleased, after careful consideration of further representations which were made in connection with the case, to rescind that part of the commuted sentences which imposed the punishment of flogging.

With reference to the case of William Williams, who was committed, at the Central Police Court, on the 22nd of last month, for the offence of diverting a railway point, at Darling Harbour, "with intent to endanger the safety of persons travelling thereon," we learn that the Attorney-General, having caused inquiry to be made as to the age and history of the accused, has ascertained that he is a mere boy, has always been well conducted, and that the offence committed by him was simply a boyish act, without any felonious intent whatever. The Attorney-General has, therefore, under the circumstances, declined to file a bill against the lad; but has, at the same time, directed that he should be seen by some intelligent officer of the Police Department, and the fearful penalty to which, under the law, he had exposed himself—i.e. penal servitude for life (had not a merciful view been taken of his action)—pointed out to him.

We have been requested by the police to state that a purse containing a sum of money and a railway ticket (return) was found in George-street yesterday. The owner of the purse can have the same by making application and giving the necessary description at the Central Police station.

Some men of the Water Police were engaged on Wednesday and yesterday in endeavouring to recover the body of Charles Burchell, who was drowned whilst attempting to board a steamer at Milson's Point Wharf at an early hour on Tuesday morning; but so far their efforts have been unsuccessful.

Last evening a married woman named Gertrude Belgren, aged 45 years, residing at Dotchett-street, Balmain, was admitted to the Sydney Hospital, suffering from the effects of submersion. It is asserted that she made an attempt to commit suicide by jumping into the waters of Johnston's Bay, Balmain, during the afternoon. She was attended to by Dr. Westrum.

THE FEDERATION ENABLING BILL.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

Some time ago the Government communicated with the New South Wales Government regarding the Federation Enabling Bill, and it was then stated that the bill was under consideration by the Government of that colony. Nothing further transpired till to-day, when Mr. Service received a telegram from the Agent-General for Victoria to the effect that the New South Wales Government had telegraphed to Sir Saul Samuel to urge the postponement of the bill, in which they would propose certain alterations, although they would not consent to federate. Mr. Service regarded this action as very ungracious—especially so with regard to their desire to amend the bill without communicating with him or the representatives of the other colonies, while they were not prepared to federate. During the afternoon Mr. Service received a message from Sir Alexander Stuart, stating that instructions had been given to the Agent-General for New South Wales. This evening Mr. Service telegraphed to the other colonies, setting forth these facts, and suggesting that the Agents-General be advised to protest against the action of New South Wales, and ask for the speedy passing of the bill. The Premier of Tasmania telegraphed to Mr. Service to-night in acquiescence of this course.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN FINANCIAL RETURNS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Thursday.

The expenditure during the last financial year amounted to £2,480,513, and the revenue to £2,157,931, leaving a deficit on the year's transactions of £272,582, which, added to the deficit at the beginning of the year, leaves a deficit on July 1 of £709,241. The principal increases in the expenditure are as follows:—Police, £5000; Postal and Telegraph Department, £2000; charitable vote, £2000; defences, £14,000; railways, £35,000; miscellaneous, £19,000; interest, £76,000. The receipts include only £800 on account of taxation.

DISQUIETING NEWS FROM AFGHANISTAN.

THE RUSSIANS AT ZULFICAR.

DECLINE IN CONSOLS.

[By Cable.]
(From our own correspondent.)

LONDON, July 15.

Consols have fallen, in consequence of the disquieting news from Afghanistan with reference to the advance of the Russians.

July 16.

Russia practically claims the command of Zulficar, on the Heri Rud. The Czar offers to refer the question as to the possession of the stronghold to the Frontier Commission, but the Marquis of Salisbury declines to agree to the proposal.

Intelligence has been received by the Government from Afghanistan to the effect that there are 3000 Russian troops in the vicinity of Zulficar.

(Reuter's telegram.)

LONDON, July 15.

In the House of Commons to-day, Lord Randolph Churchill, Secretary of State for India, announced that he had received a telegram from Colonel Ridgeway, the British Commissioner for the Afghan frontier, reporting that the Russian troops were close to the vicinity of Zulficar, and that their number had been increased.

Captains Yates and Peacock had gone to Herat, to which place the British Commission is now moving.

July 16.

The latest news from Afghanistan reports that the Boundary Commission, under Colonel Ridgeway, has moved to Herat, in consequence of the Afghans having requested the British officers to direct the measures now being taken for the defence of the town.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

Mr. William Strettle, aged 42 years, a brother of Mr. Stratford Strettle, the well-known cattle salesman, accidentally shot himself dead, at Gladys Park, Berwick, to-day.

The Steam Navigation Board held an inquiry to-day, into the collision between the steamer Nemesis and the barque Killarney, in the river Yarra, on the 4th instant, by which the latter vessel lost her royal mast, and the former received some slight damage to the deck rail and davits. The Board came to the conclusion that the occurrence was accidental.

James Stewart, who a few weeks ago beat an old man named Harry Hopkins, in the latter's hut near Rushworth, so severely that he died, was to-day, at the Sandhurst Assizes, sentenced to six months' imprisonment for the manslaughter of Hopkins, and two weeks' solitary confinement.

The M.M.S. Caledonien entered Port Phillip Heads at noon to-day.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Thursday.

It is reported that the Government have suspended several of the recruiting agents of the labour vessels, with the view of weeding out the objectionable class of men that is now employed.

The Marine Board at Townsville have concluded their inquiry into the sinking of Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co.'s ketch Activity, through the collision with the A. S. N. Company's steamer Palmer. The board found that the collision resulted from an error of judgment on the part of Captain Griffiths, of the Palmer, and censured him.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Thursday.

Mr. George Augustus Sala opens his lecturing tour here at the end of the month.

The population of the colony on the 1st of June was 319,291.

The exports of wheat for the past week amounted to 56,615 bushels, and of flour 480 tons.

The R.M.S. Rome sailed at 3.15 p.m. for London.

NEW ZEALAND.

PARLIAMENT OF QUEENSLAND.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

BRISBANE, Thursday.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, the Premier gave notice that he would, on next Tuesday, introduce a Local Option Bill. On the motion of Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith, a return was called for giving the particulars of the selectors under the Land Act of 1876 who have elected to come under the new Act. On the motion of Mr. Macfarlane, a return was called for showing the number of inmates in the lunatic asylums of the colony and St. Helena. Mr. Griffith introduced a bill to regulate the width of streets and lanes, and to prevent the subdivision of land in such a way as to be injurious to the public health. The bill was read for the first time. The following bills were read for the third time and passed:—The Police Officers' Relief Bill, Members of Parliament Expenses Bill, Pacific Island Labourers' Compensation Bill, and the Additional Members Bill.

PARLIAMENT OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Thursday.

The Legislative Assembly held a short sitting to-day. The Ministers mentioned that the plans and estimates had been prepared for three designs for improving the Adelaide Railway Station and approaches. It was intimated that the Government intend to introduce a Pawnbrokers Act during this session. It was not thought advisable to commission the explorer, Mr. W. W. Mills, who is now travelling in the unexplored country, where it is supposed that the remains of Leichhardt would be discovered, to search for them. The Supply Bill of £400,000 for the September quarter was passed, and the second reading of the Payment of Members Bill was passed by a majority of four—the voting being 17 to 13—and the bill was formally taken into committee. A bill was introduced for the amendment of the Real Property Act.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondents.)

NEWCASTLE, Thursday.

At a special meeting of the Newcastle Coal Trimmers' Provident Union held last night at the Black Diamond Hotel, the rules were adopted. There were 152 members present, each of whom was supplied with a small brass badge or medal, to be worn when the owner is at work. The society at present consists of 175 members, with £220 in hand.

William Watson, charged with stealing a gold watch, valued at £20, from the person of James Norfolk, at the last Raymond Terrace races, was fully committed for trial this morning. The prisoner it was proved had pledged the watch in Newcastle a short time after the races.

BREWARRINA, Thursday.

Preparations for shearing are now well forward in this district, and some of the earlier sheds are commencing next week. Lambing generally has been above anticipations in all but the extreme northern parts of the district, where the season continues bad.

A petition is now being prepared with the object of inducing the Postmaster-General to transfer the mail service now running between Byrock and this town on to the direct route recently opened. A great saving in time would be effected by the change, and it is understood that the mail contractors have no objection to the proposal.

WELLINGTON, Thursday.

The members of the local Orange Lodge held their 12th of July celebration last evening in the Band Hall, the Rev. Mr. Miller presiding. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Holland, Thompson, Halliday, and others, followed by a vocal and instrumental concert. The speeches were free from any irritating allusion, and everything passed off with the greatest satisfaction. Over 200 persons were present.

The weather is dry, and free from frosts. The river is very low.

MUDGEE, Thursday.

Judge Docker opened the District Court here yesterday, and concluded the cases this morning. At the Quarter Sessions to-day T. Price, late clerk to the mining registrar at Windeyer, was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment with hard labour, for embezzling Government money.

No rain has fallen here as yet, though there are indications of it every day.

BATHURST, Thursday.

The annual celebration in connection with the Loyal Orange Institution was held in the School of Arts Hall last night, when the proceedings took the usual form of a social meeting, with speeches and music afterwards. Mr. W. H. Paul, W.M., occupied the chair, and there was a large crowd of people present, filling all parts of the hall. Addresses were delivered by the chairman, the Rev s. S. E. Hopkins, R. Sellors, Price, and Neild, and Mr. J no. F. Halliday. Songs and duets were sung during the evening, and the celebration was one of the most successful ever held in Bathurst.

Complaints are made of the delay by the Brigade Office in paying the money due to the members of the Cont ingent. The Bathurst men applied for their amounts some weeks ago, and an application posted to the paymaster last Saturday by Lieutenant Paul has met with no response. Nearly all of them are working-men, and the non-receipt of their money is considered to be a great hardship.

BLAYNEY, Thursday.

The first accident on the new railway line happened yesterday, at No. 5 cutting, about two miles from Blayney, where a fall of earth took place and buried several of the men who were working in the cutting. After willing hands had worked for some time three of the men were dug out, and they were found to be severely injured. Dr. Thorpe was soon on the spot, and, assisted by Drs. Cortis and Florance, the injuries were attended to. It is a wonder that no one was killed, as over 60 men were working in the cutting at the time. No person is to blame in the matter, as the occurrence was purely accidental.

An extraordinary vacancy in the local municipal council has taken place through the resignation of Alderman Palmer. The nomination to fill the vacancy takes place next week.

The weather is cloudy and cold.

YOUNG, Thursday.

The Anglican Bishop of Goulburn is now on a visit to Young, with the object of conferring with the congregation of St. John's as to the choice of a successor to the incumbency vacant by the resignation of Rev. J. M. Ware.

Within the past week, two cases of sly grog-selling have been dealt with in the local police court, and fines of £40 and £30 respectively were imposed.

The weather here is fine.

GOULBURN, Thursday.

At the Licensing Court here to-day, Thomas Holmes, licensee of the Star Hotel, was fined £10 for Sunday trading, and four persons who were drinking in the house were fined 20s. each.

The new wool clip is expected to be very good. Transactions in store sheep and cattle are becoming brisk in this district.

ALBURY, Thursday.

At a meeting of the Upper Murray Railway League it was decided to forward a statement of principal arguments in support of the proposed Upper Murray railway to the Minister for Public Works, and ask him to authorise a trial survey of the route.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondents.)

VICTORIA COURSING CLUB—WATERLOO CUP MEETING.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

His Excellency the Governor and suite were present at the coursing at Diggers' Rest to-day. The attendance was not so large as on the previous day, but the sport was very enjoyable. The feature of the day's proceedings was the comparatively easy defeat of Melfort, who had been heavily backed, although he was manifestly not in good form when he ran his course with the Duchess of Kew. Castanet went in from the slips, and remained there throughout the course. Four dogs are left in the stake, namely, Quinine, Siesta, Rhodanthe, and Castanet, and all did splendid work. The result is very open. Quinine ran in grand style, and if defeated to-morrow, it will be due probably to her desire to use her teeth. Rhodanthe was favoured by a small course, while the two other dogs have Waterloo Cups to their credit. Never in the annals of Diggers' Rest coursing has there been such a chance of a splendid finish. Mr. Chirnside's three dogs went down in a body to-day. Mongoose and Monsoon have been withdrawn from the Plate. Appended are the results of the coursing:—

Waterloo Cup.

Mr. W. R. Hall's Blessing beat Mr. A. Swan's Hartley.
Mr. J. D. Jones' Quinine beat Mr. G. F. Hammond's Sherwood Stag.

THE VICTORIAN TURF.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

The following horses were to-day struck out of their V.R.C. engagements:—Leo, Fingal, and Phenomenon, from the Maiden Steeple; Nutlad, from the Grand National Hurdles; Union, from the Grand National Steeple; Agitation, from the Selling Hurdles; Bristol, Gipsy's Warning, and Maroney, from the Flat Race.

MELBOURNE GUN CLUB.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

The annual Champion Stakes in connexion with the Melbourne Gun Club were shot for to-day, on the Elsternwick Park Racecourse. First prize, 100 sovs., and the Champion Gold Medal of 1885; second and third prizes of 30 sovs. and 15 sovs. respectively; 11 birds, 26 yards rise, use both barrels. The weather was auspicious, but the attendance of the public was small. The average of the shooting was good, and there was a heavy death-roll in consequence. The first prize was awarded to Mr. A. R. Inglis, of Melbourne, who killed 11 birds, using a Greener gun; and the second and third prizes were divided between Messrs. W. D. Clarke, of Lexington, and Grant, of Sydney. The latter is the assumed name of Mr. L. G. Calvert, of Colac.

FOOTBALL.

Waratah Football Club.—A general meeting of the members of the above club was held at Rainford's Hotel on Tuesday evening last, the attendance being very large, Mr. C. Watson presiding. After a large amount of correspondence had been read, and other trivial matters had been passed, a presentation was then made to Mr. W. C. Hinwood, for his services to the club. The present was a very handsomely illuminated photographic address, nicely executed, from the establishment of Schroder and Co., George-street. The recipient returned thanks to the members for their gift. Mr. C. Watson was elected a delegate to the New South Wales Football Association in the stead of Mr. F. C. Michell, who has been compelled to resign. After indulging in some vocal music, recitations, &c., the company dispersed.

Glebe v. Oxford.—These two clubs met at Wentworth Park on Saturday last. After a fast and and friendly game the visitors were defeated by five points to nil. The Oxfords having won the toss, their opponents kicked off. After some good runs on the Glebe side, especially one by Hawken, who received quite an ovation from the spectators, the ball was taken into dangerous quarters for the Oxfords, and Howe, by his good play obtained a try, which Burke converted into a goal. The play for the remainder of the time was very fast, neither side gaining any advantage. For the victors Howe, Hawken, Burke, Colley, and Walker played well, and for the losers Wheatley, Seymour, Norman, and Newman did likewise.

The intercolonial football match, played under British Association rules, at Melbourne yesterday, between Victoria and New South Wales, was won by the former who obtained three goals to the latter's nil.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that the intercolonial football match, under the Rugby rules, between the teams representing New South Wales and Victoria, played on the East Melbourne Cricket Ground, yesterday, was rather a one-sided affair. Victoria won the toss, and at the conclusion of the game scored four goals to nil. The attendance of spectators was small.

PRESENTATION of an ADDRESS of WELCOME to the BISHOP of BATHURST.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

BATHURST, Thursday.

Yesterday afternoon a few of the ministers representing the clergy of the diocese met at Avonford, and presented the Bishop of Bathurst with an address of welcome on his return from England, and condoling with him on the bereavement he had sustained in the death of his mother, which occurred at Bathurst during his absence. The address, which bore the signatures of all the clergy of the diocese, was presented by Archdeacon Campbell. Dr. Marsden, in reply, thanked the clergy for their welcome, and expressed his gratitude for their sympathy. During his reply the Bishop said: "The knowledge that you reciprocate the affection which I entertain for you adds to the great regret which now fills my mind at the prospect of a separation from you. I am as a father leaving his loved sons. I shall ever cherish the remembrance of your cordial co-operation and of the many happy hours spent in joint labour in the Lord's vineyard. Much as I should like to remain, my health will not admit of my doing so. My work as a pioneer of the Church, together with trials of an exceptional character, have rendered it impossible for me to administer the affairs of the diocese in a manner so as to give satisfaction to myself, to you, or to the members of the Church, to whom I am personally indebted for their valuable assistance and many hospitalities." Dr. Marsden intends to resign his position and return to England, where his family now is, and that he will remain there for some time before returning to Australia.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

To-morrow night, after a long absence and many important additions to their forces, Messrs. Williamson, Garner, and Musgrove's Royal Comic Opera Company will commence a season with the first production in Sydney of Lecocq's opera bouffe, "La Petite Mademoiselle." This work, originally produced in Paris at the Theatre de la Renaissance, in April, 1879, was an immense success. The triumph in Paris was followed by a corresponding result in London, where, in October, 1879, it was produced at the Alhambra, Mr. Knight Aston, Miss Alice May, and Miss Emma Chambers being included in the cast of principals. The music, superior to the majority of Offenbach's, has all the bright tunefulness of Lecocq's best; the melodies may occasionally be reminiscent, but they are assuredly charming. In the original version the grand climax came in the middle of the opera, and the management here, to judge by the advertisements, follow the plan recently adopted in Melbourne; and, though retaining the leading incidents in the libretto and very much of the music, have varied the order, and have inserted some musical numbers by well-known composers—Strauss, Ascher, Bonheur, Eichburg, and Asch. The scene of the story is in Paris chiefly, the time 200 years ago, and the incidents are supposed to happen during a rebellion of the citizens against the Government consequent upon their unpopular edicts. Miss Nellie Stewart is the heroine, a countess, then known as Trompette, la Petite Mademoiselle. She is taken prisoner by a royalist Captain, who falls in love with her, and gives her back her passport. Her re-arrest is ordered, she is re-captured, and a grand tableau is formed by the appearance on the stage of a large number of troops, with which the first act closes. In the second act the countess is a prisoner. In her seclusion the time is beguiled in divers ways. A sabot dance, a dance of pierrots, a waltz song by a gipsy maiden, are tried, but in vain. Three doctors are summoned to consider her case, and by and by the Countess escapes. In the last act she appears in many characters, as waitress at a win shop, and as the leader of the insurrection. There is a grand barricade for the final tableau, and all that scenic and spectacular effects can provide to gratify the most extravagant demands. The music is essentially pleasing. The company were very acceptable in Melbourne, and the liberality of the management is so well known that full reliance may be placed on their appropriate mounting here. The costumes of the time are most picturesque, and there is every justification for the expectation of good times for the lovers of this most popular, if not most elevating, class of entertainment.

OPERA HOUSE.

The society drama, "Mammon, or the Money Market," has attracted good houses, and a considerable amount of appreciation during the present week, the portrayal of the character of the scheming financier, who sacrifices everything to achieve his own ends, and faces ruin with unshrinking front, proving quite a masterly study in the hands of Mr. W. H. Vernon, for whom, as already stated, it was written. There is nothing sensational in the play, and in that it differs from most of the dramas now in vogue. It approaches more the modern French, than the modern English, school, inasmuch as it depends less on mechanism and scenery for success than on the portrayal of genuine feeling, tempered occasionally with humour. The most affecting scene in the piece, and one which requires a considerable amount of acting to do it justice, is that in which the tender wife, after appealing vainly to the higher nature of her scheming husband, leaves him for good. The daughter follows her mother, and the financier is left to pursue his path alone. The blow is sudden, and is keenly felt, and the sympathy of the audience, which at first is all on the side of the wife and daughter, is also secured for the forsaken schemer, who displays a remarkable power over his feelings during this trying crisis. In the brief while that the interview lasts he appears to grow perceptibly older, and the look he throws round the room as the sound of his wife's footstep dies upon the corridor without reveals the immense gap that has been made in a life devoted to the pursuit of wealth and the chasm that separates the financier of the future from the husband of the past. In this scene Mr. Vernon was at his very best. Every look, every change of voice, had a meaning in it, and that the audience fully appreciated the effort was apparent from the cordial manner in which it signified its approval. Another very effective scene is the exceedingly humorous one in which Sir Geoffrey is denounced as a swindler, a rogue, and a vagabond by the indignant North countryman (Mr. J. P. West), in the presence of Sir Geoffrey's daughter, while the financier, calm and imperturbable, as if he were listening to a compliment, coolly takes down the statement, and gets his secretary to do the same. The dignity and pathos displayed by Miss Genevieve Ward, who sustained the part of the wife, has been already commented on, as also the graceful acting of Miss Watts-Phillips. It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and if Sir Geoffrey lost £50,000 by his mine, and four times that amount with the Vesuvian bonds, it is satisfactory to know that his trusty (!) secretary (Mr. Lawrence), profiting by the example of "so good a master," managed to line his nest in a very substantial way. The piece will be withdrawn on Saturday, when the first representation will be given of the comedy-drama "Rachel," by Mr. Sydney Grundy, the author of the piece played last night

As usual, much of the enjoyment during the acting of the piece, as also during the intervals between the acts, was owing to the excellent music played by the nicely-balanced orchestra under the direction of Mr. Rivers Allpress, whose selections always show taste, while the manner in which they are interpreted is admirable.

THE KRUSE CONCERTS.

The attendance at the last concert of the series was larger than at any previous one. Fortunately the weather cleared a little, and there is no doubt that had the favourable change occurred earlier a corresponding improvement would have been noticed. Herr Kruse, whose every appearance was greeted with enthusiasm, played the Bruch Concerto in G minor with the same artistic skill which has marked every effort. The composition is an exacting one, outside the repertoire of all but interpreters of classic music, and appealing emphatically to educated musicians for full appreciation. The rendering compelled respect and admiration, and the reception of each movement, as well as the storm of applause from all parts of the theatre at its close, told how great was the pleasure given. Twice the young concert-meister appeared, but the succeeding number being Braga's serenade, with violin obligato, he wisely declined an encore. The beauty of Braga's composition was well revealed by Mrs. Armstrong, who was in very good voice, and the violin obligato was truly exquisite. For the Romanza (Ries) set down for his second solo, Herr Kruse, by request, substituted the grand Prize Song from "Meister Singer" (Wagner); and with a full sense of the beauty of this solo by the great dramatic composer, followed it with the noble melody from Bach's Suite, known as the "Air for the G-string." The Cavatina by Raff was the third, and for this an important encore was given in the poetic and singularly melodious "Legende" of Wieniawski. Excellent as each selection of Herr Kruse has been, it seemed as if on this his final appearance, the purity of his tone, the admirable school, the true art which is apparent in all his work, was more emphatically revealed than before. He was indeed as an artist revelling in the power of elevating and ennobling all who came to listen to his interpretations. The sympathy and delight of his hearers was testified in all possible ways; wreaths, bouquets, and floral trophies with national colours came from all parts of the house, and the feeling showed a triumph of enthusiasm. Mrs. Armstrong was recalled and encored for "Convien Partir," and gave "Bid me Goodbye" (Tosti) instead. The Serenade has already been noticed, and "The Old Trysting-Tree" was also encored, Meyerbeer's "Fishermaiden" being chosen. This lady's voice is not at its best in the theatre, but she has sung conscientiously and very agreeably in the face of weather most adverse to vocal success. Mr. Frank Boyle chose "The Anchor's Weighed" (Braham), and by request sang in the second part a fine song by Clay, "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby," with "Non è Ver" as encore. M. de Valmency's rendering of two solos by Gottschalk was pleasing, and "Les Castagnettes" (Ketten) so acceptable that an encore was demanded, and the "New Caprice" substituted, but not well played. The pianist, nevertheless, deserves well, for he has had a good deal of work, and his accompaniment, which is superior to his solo-playing, has been valuable. Both Mrs. Armstrong and M. de Valmency shared in the floral tributes, and received numerous bouquets. The company leave many warm friends on their own account, apart from the consideration to which their association with an artist of such merit as Concert-Meister Kruse will always entitle them. The repertoire and performances of the last-named have gained for him the fullest sympathy from all sections of musical people, and it is satisfactory to know that arrangements have been initiated by which a substantial recognition of his talents, and of the appreciation of the Sydney people for his devotion to art, will be made, and a souvenir be provided to mark the new phase in art life and the honour indirectly done to Australia by the appointment of one of her sons to the dignified office of professor in the Berlin High School for Music.

LYNCH FAMILY OF BELLRINGERS.

The Lynch family of bellringers and vocalists gave one of their popular entertainments in the Parramatta Town Hall last night. There was a good attendance, and it is scarcely necessary to add that the performances were much appreciated. The troupe will give another performance at the same suburb this evening.

At the Oddfellows' Hall, Manly, last night, there was triplicated a performance of Robertson's celebrated comedy, "School." The Howard family, who have been fulfilling a short professional season at that watering-place, were the de facto performers, but the auditors' enjoyment was augmented by a contingent of well known amateurs—Messrs. John R. Allen, W. Eldridge, C. Quiet, A. Armstrong, C. Glossop, and H. R. Woods. The points of "School" are too well-known to require special allusion; and the cast yesternight was as follows:—Jack Poyntz (Mr. Elridge), Beau Farintosh (Paul Howard), Mr. Krux (Mr. C. Glossop), Dr. Sutcliffe (Mr. John R. Allen), Lord Beaufoy (Mr. H. R. Woods), Vaughan (Mr. Armstrong), Bella (Miss Grace Howard), Naomi Tighe (Miss Edie Howard), Mrs. Sutcliffe (Miss Marie Howard), Laura (Gwen Howard), Milly (Miss Ethel Eastwood), Tilly (Miss Amy Sherwood), Clara (Miss Emily Sherwood), and Hetty (Miss Hetty Sherwood). The entertainment was accorded special patronage by the Hon. W. B. Dalley, Q.C., Sir Edward Strickland, K.C.B., the Mayor (Mr. C. R. Austin), and the aldermen. The hall, it is almost needless to add, was crowded by a fashionable and representative audience. Manly Beach might with advantage possess a more suitable proscenium for the development of its latent histrionic talent. Though there were amateurs on the stage yesterday, they were in point of excellence above the average of uncut buskin-diamonds, as those who listened to their rendition of the play unmistakably emphasised by the genuineness of the applause which was forthcoming from time to time. Given a little more stage room, slightly improved gas effects, and "School," as placed on the Manly boards, need not have been cavilled at by the most hyper-critical of metropolitans. Acts second, third, and final—examination school, moonlight flirtation, and the realistic "explanation"—in particular brought out the part-takers' powers, and caused the blending of hilarious laughter with an involuntary tear more than once. To-night the Howard Company, again with the amateurs' assistance, will offer "Who's to Win Him?" and "Boots at the Swan." The proceeds on this occasion are, generously enough, to be entirely handed over towards the funds of the Hall, and another bumper house is reasonably looked forward to. The scenic effects and general decoration of the building were excellent.

Willie Freear, a talented member of the Fun on the Bristol Company, whose visits to this city have secured him a large circle of friends, has retired from the company in order that he may proceed to England to dispose of some urgent business requiring his presence there. On Wednesday testimony was borne to the artistic abilities and genial characteristics of Mr. Freear by a company of friends who gave in his honour a social gathering, held at Goldstein's Sydney and Melbourne Coffee Palace. During the evening a prettily designed illuminated address, prepared by Mr. M. E. Meyers, accompanied by a souvenir, was presented to Mr. Freear, who will be a passenger to Europe by the steamship Iberia, sailing on Saturday morning.

FAULCONBRIDGE ART UNION.

Connoisseurs in works of art may, during the next few days, spend a pleasant hour by visiting No. 175, Premier-terrace, Woolloomooloo. Sir Henry Parkes intends to dispose of, by art union, at an early date, his library, and the autographs and works of art collected by him during the past 20 years, and the bulk of the collection is on view at the address stated above. The 417 prizes to be distributed are valued at £5776—an amount which people competent to judge have asserted is far too small—and the value placed upon the first 17, ranges from £650 to £50. The most valuable prize is the library, consisting of over 2000 English standard works; and next in importance is a most elaborately carved ivory cabinet desk, which shows delicate and skilful execution, and which certainly is worth more than the £450 stated as its value. It once belonged to Warren Hastings, and is a very fine example of Indian workmanship. The third prize is an oil painting by D. Gincomelli, representing the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. And these three prizes are on view at Sir Henry Parkes' office, at the corner of Pitt and Hunter streets. Among the more noticeable of the other prizes are several figures carved in wood by Italian sculptors; six stained-glass windows glowing with deep rich tints such as are rarely seen now; and several good paintings. The collection of ivory carvings is unusually fine, one figure, 18 inches high, being a splendid specimen, and half a dozen beautiful plaques showing exquisite workmanship. In ceramic ware there are excellent specimens of Crown Derby, Chelsea, Dresden, Chippendale, Worcester, Wedgewood, and old Japanese cloisonné; and Indian and Japanese work in bronze and wood is well represented. Ladies will be tempted by several jewel trays of agate; one or two large vases of jade; and by three or four lovely cabinets, the most beautifully constructed of all being made of ivory and tortoiseshell. A Persian cabinet, which was the property of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, is unusually rich in colour, and some Indian carvings are remarkably fine. The beauty of two marble plaques by Thorwaldsen will be appreciated by all lovers of art, and the "Wine Cup of Frederick the Great" cannot but be admired. Included in the collection to be disposed of are a number of interesting autographs, among them being those of Oliver Cromwell, Queen Elizabeth, James I., William Pitt, Charles James Fox, Garibaldi, and other personages of importance; and there are also about a dozen beautiful miniature paintings. The collection has been inspected during the past week by very many ladies and gentlemen, and various items in it have been so much admired that the art union is being rapidly filled up. It is not improbable that several of the articles offered as prizes will find their way to our National Art Gallery.

MASONIC.

The annual installation meeting of the Glebe Masonic Lodge, 1944, E.C., took place at the Glebe Town-hall on Wednesday evening last, when, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, there were about 100 members of the Masonic body present. After some usual routine business had been transacted, Bro. F. C. Passau was presented to the installing master, Bro. Isaac Myers, by Worshipful P.Ms. F. Lee and W. D. Banks as the Master elect of the Glebe Lodge for the ensuing twelve months, and the ceremony of installation, with all its impressiveness, was then performed by Worshipful Bro. Myers in a very efficient and creditable manner. The following brethren were then chosen by the newly-installed Worshipful Master as officers during his term of service, viz.:—Bro. F. Murray, S.W.; Bro. W. Hentsch, J.W.; Bro. J. Seamer, treasurer; Bro. Mark Myers, secretary; Bro. T. L. Clarke, S.D.; Bro. P. Mitchell, J.D.; and Bro. W. J. Chissell, I.G. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. H. Myers, the retiring secretary, for his zeal as such during the past three years. It was decided by the members of the lodge to forward a letter of condolence to the widow of the late Dr. A. West, he having been one of the founders of the lodge in question. The annual report was read and adopted, as was also the annual balance-sheet, which showed that, after contributing very liberally to various charitable objects, there yet remained in hand a considerable sum. Worshipful Bro. D. Mitchell then, on behalf of the members of the lodge, presented Worshipful Bro. R. W. Myers with a handsome silver claret jug, beautifully embossed with allegorical figures, as a memento of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the Glebe Lodge, and as a souvenir on his retirement from the office of master of ceremonies in connection with the lodge. The article presented came from the establishment of Mr. F. C. Passau, of the King-street Arcade, and is a fine specimen of the silversmith's art. In the absence through illness of the recipient, Bro. H. Myers returned thanks on behalf of his uncle. This concluded the formal business of the evening, and after a slight interval, the brethren sat down to a banquet, the proceedings terminating shortly after 11 o'clock.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

YOUNG, Thursday.

The prospectus of the New Burrangong Gold-mining Company has been issued. The directors of the company are in treaty for a very complete mining plant, and they hope to commence operations in a few weeks.

MOUNT BROWN GOLDFIELD.

The Under-Secretary for Mines has received the following report from Mr. Warden King:—

"Milparinka, July 2, 1885.

"Sir,—I have the honour to report that during the past month another party at Mount Brown has struck water at a depth of 210 feet, and being unable to overcome it, and having exhausted their means, have applied for and obtained suspension for the labour clauses for six months, which will enable them to obtain employment on the adjacent stations at shearing, after which they will resume work with renewed energy, as they are fully impressed with the ultimate success of their undertaking. The three parties who are on gold in the deep shafts are working steadily. 133 feet is the greatest depth at which gold has as yet been found, so that the frontage system is not yet applicable to this field. Several miners have left Mount Brown to work on the stations during shearing. It is matter for congratulation that the hitherto great drawback to this portion of the field, namely, the want of water, is now remedied by the proved existence of underground water of excellent quality and considerable quantity. At Tibooburra the paddling machines are now idle for want of water, and the miners have also had to retreat from Nuggetty Gully for the same reason. At Good Friday a new lead of gold has been found by White, and may lead to the discovery of a reef, but want of water will be a great obstacle to anything like a rush in this direction. At the quartz reefs on Warranatta Creek simply nothing is being done. Having been informed that several parties were at work in the neighbourhood of the Packsaddle Station, I visited that place, which is situated about 80 miles in a southerly direction from Milparinka, and within the Mount Brown division of the Albert goldfield, and found that two or three parties had applied to lease land for mineral purposes other than gold, and these applications had been made to the warden at Silverton. I only found two men at work, who were prospecting a reef about four miles east from Packsaddle, and had put down a shaft 20 feet. I think the reef had more iron than silver, if any. I do not think this is likely to prove a rich silver district. The weather during the past month has been very dry, only about 11 points of rain having fallen, on the 14th of the month. The nights have been very frosty and cold, and the days warm and sunny. A man named Charles Petersen, a Swede, died at Tibooburra on the 24th ultimo, from dysentery, after 12 days' illness. He came in from a station in Queensland in a dying condition. A miner named George Karr, in a destitute condition and suffering from rheumatism, was forwarded to the hospital in Wilcannia as a pauper."

PASTORAL INTELLIGENCE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondents.)

BREWARRINA, Thursday.

The local stock movements are as under:—160 fat cattle (Messrs. Colless and Loo, owners), from Beechall to Dubbo, passed yesterday. A mob of Messrs. Cobb and Co.'s cattle also passed, and a lot of Fairleagh cattle is approaching.

BARRINGUN, Thursday.

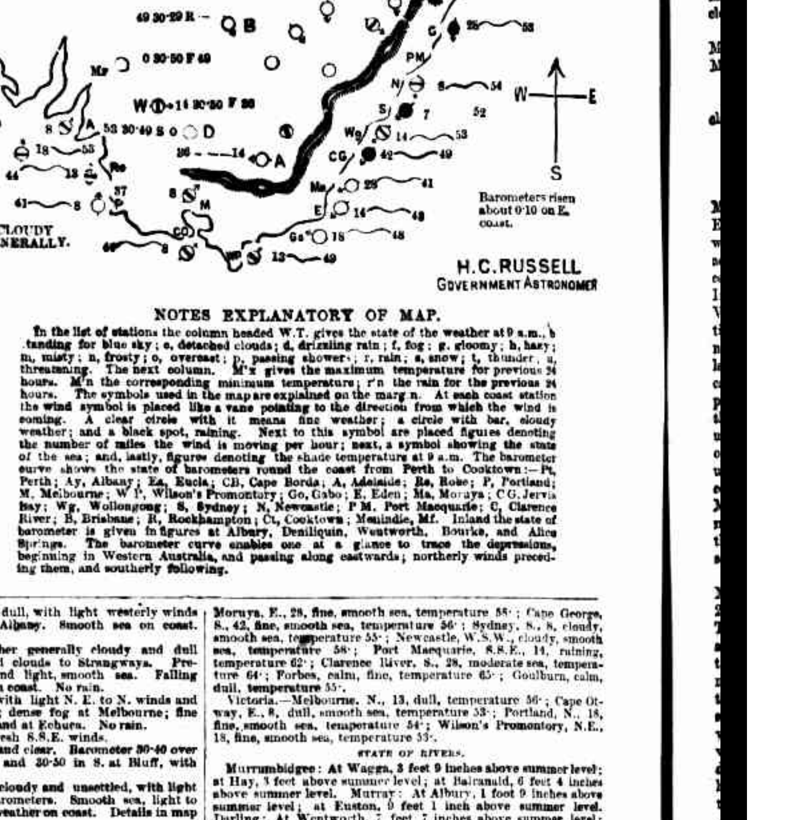

The following are the local stock passings:—319 fat bullocks and cows, from Tinburra, for Sydney, Mr. James Tyson, owner; 300 fat cattle, from Owangowan station to Dubbo, Messrs Morgan and Watkins, owners; 1000 store bullocks, from Gregory North, for Dubbo, Messrs Kilgour and Mackay, owners.

NOTES EXPLANATORY OF MAP.

In the list of stations the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b standing for blue sky; c, detached clouds; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; h, hazy; m, misty; n, frosty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; s, snow; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column. M'x gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours. M'n the corresponding minimum temperature; r'n the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained on the margin. At each coast station the wind symbol is placed like a vane pointing to the direction from which the wind is coming. A clear circle with it means fine weather; a circle with bar, cloudy weather; and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour; next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and, lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown:—Pt, Perth; Ay, Albany; Ea, Eucla; CB, Cape Borda; A, Adelaide; Ro, Robe; P, Portland; M, Melbourne; W P, Wilson's Promontory; Go, Gabo; E, Eden; Ma, Moruya; CG, Jervis Bay; Wg, Wollongong; S, Sydney; N, Newcastle; PM, Port Macquarie; C, Clarence River; B, Brisbane; R, Rockhampton; Ct, Cooktown; Menindie, Mf. Inland the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning in Western Australia, and passing along eastwards; northerly winds preceding them, and southerly following.

Western Australia.—Generally dull, with light westerly winds and calms; light rain falling at Albany. Smooth sea on coast. Rainfall: Perth, 0·02.

South Australia reports weather generally cloudy and dull inland to Quorn, and scattered clouds to Strangways. Prevailing winds from E. to N., and light, smooth sea. Falling barometers and light N. winds on coast. No rain.

Victoria.—Cloudy and dull, with light N. E. to N. winds and smooth sea. Barometers steady; dense fog at Melbourne; fine and clear, with light S. wind inland at Echuca. No rain.

Tasmania.—Fine and clear, fresh S.S.E. winds.

New Zealand.—Generally fine and clear. Barometer 30·40 over N. Island, with S.E. winds; and 30·50 in S. at Bluff, with calm.

New South Wales.—Generally cloudy and unsettled, with light S.E. to S.W. winds and rising barometers. Smooth sea, light to fresh S.W. winds, and showery weather on coast. Details in map above.

Queensland.—Generally fine and clear, with S.W. to S. winds and moderate sea. Strong S.E. wind and rather rough sea at Cooktown.

3 P.M. OBSERVATIONS.

New South Wales.—Menindie, calm, fine, temperature 58°; Wentworth, calm, cloudy, temperature 48°; Deniliquin, calm, fine, temperature 60°; Albury, calm, fine, temperature 52°; Moruya, E., 28, fine, smooth sea, temperature 55°; Cape George, S., 42, fine, smooth sea, temperature 56°; Sydney, S., 8, cloudy, smooth sea, temperature 55°; Newcastle, W.S.W., cloudy, smooth sea, temperature 58°; Port Macquarie, S.S.E., 14, raining, temperature 62°; Clarence River, S., 28, moderate sea, temperature 64°; Forbes, calm, fine, temperature 65°; Goulburn, calm, dull, temperature 55°.

Victoria.—Melbourne, N., 13, dull, temperature 56°; Cape Otway, E., 8, dull, smooth sea, temperature 53°; Portland, N., 18, fine, smooth sea, temperature 54°; Wilson's Promontory, N.E., 18, fine, smooth sea, temperature 53°.

STATE OF RIVERS.

Murrumbidgee: At Wagga, 3 feet 9 inches above summer level; at Hay, 3 feet above summer level; at Balranald, 6 feet 4 inches above summer level. Murray: At Albury, 1 foot 9 inches above summer level; at Euston, 9 feet 1 inch above summer level. Darling: At Wentworth, 7 feet 7 inches above summer level; at Pooncarie, Menindie, Wilcannia, and Bourke, low.

ASTRONOMICAL MEMORANDA FOR JULY 17.

Sun rises at 7.3, sets at 5.8; Moon, 10.31 a.m., 10.35 p.m.; Mercury, 8.14 a.m., 6.35 p.m.; Venus, 8.17 a.m., 6.39 p.m.; Mars, 4.40 a.m., 2.30 p.m.; Jupiter, 9.20 a.m., 8.25 p.m.; Saturn, 5.26 a.m., 3.20 p.m. New moon, 12th; full moon, 27th. High water at Fort Denison: 11.50 a.m.

LECTURES.

PERSONAL HYGIENE.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Scot Skirving delivered a lecture at the School of Arts on "Personal Hygiene," before a large audience, who listened to the lecturer's remarks with close attention throughout. Dr. Skirving opened with the question of food and drink, and said that two of our greatest writers had described, with a pathetic reality, the misery of the dyspeptic state—often due to lack of knowledge of dietetics—a condition in which all one's feelings seemed annihilated. All that really was in us which was good seemed absent, and our external surroundings, be they as bright as they may, were not so to our morbid minds, poisoned as they were by the products of imperfect digestion and assimilation. The lecturer then proceeded to offer some practical suggestions as to dieting, the articles we consumed, and the mode in which these articles were prepared, and the time at which they should be eaten. The elements of our food were five, namely: water, albumenoids, carbo-hydrates, fats and salts. These elements must each and all be present in every diet which was to sustain life for a lengthened period. Albumenoids were present in the whites and yolks of eggs, fish, and in milk. In beef and mutton they were present to the extent of 19 per cent. and were also to be found in many of our vegetables. They, therefore, obtained this important constituent of diet from both the vegetable and animal kingdoms, the difference being that in vegetables, generally speaking, they were not so accessible, not so capable of assimilation and not so digestible; while, on the other hand, they could, without further change, eat the flesh of an animal and be nourished thereby. With vegetables it was difficult to get the albumenoids without cooking, and from many of them it was impossible, even with the aid of cooking, to get them. An animal, however, could extract these principles for us. Carbo-hydrates, such as sugars and starch, were largely contained in the vegetable source of food; within the body they became fats, and largely assisted in the supply of heat and force for work. Arrowroot consisted mainly of water and starch. Starch must be cooked in order to be digested, because the covering of the starch granule, namely, cellulose, required to be ruptured, and the digestive ferments, such as saliva and pancreatic secretion, could not take effect till this envelope had been broken. Starch was easily digested by the saliva, hence it was a good practice to chew thoroughly and keep in the mouth a good while the farinaceous element that was in the starch, for the purpose of thoroughly mixing the saliva with it. The active principle of saliva changed starch into a form of sugar, which was then absorbed, and this action ceased in the stomach, but went on again in the intestine, under the action of the pancreatic ferment. Infants under seven months secreted not a great quantity of saliva, and therefore to feed infants, as was constantly done, on starchy food, such as bread, rice, &c., was obviously wrong. Indigestion followed, and he knew that in many cases death also followed from mal-nutrition. Improper feeding had very much to do with the high rate of mortality of infant life. The so-called farinaceous foods were for the most part only flour baked to a light brown colour and sweetened. The high temperature ruptured the starch granules and converted some of the starch into a sugary substance. Fats were equally necessary, even with albumenoid substances, although they did not directly tend to the upbuilding of the body, and they were one of the greatest sources of animal heat and force for work. They were also important as tending to help the assimilation and digestion of other substances, and albumenoid substances were not even digested unless in the presence of fat. A great aversion to fat was not a healthy sign, and he regarded the taking of butter and other fatty substances as a means, which ought not to be neglected, of warding off the dread scourge consumption. He then referred to the necessity of using salt as one element of diet and as another means of promoting digestion. Common salt, lime, iron, phosporus, and some others were all more or less indispensable, and they must all have in some way or other a place in the articles which comprise our dietary scale. Phosphate of lime, for example, entered largely into the composition of our bony framework, and deprivation of any one of these inorganic or mineral substances was sufficient to set up grave disease, such as scurvy; hence, if articles of food did not contain these in sufficient quantities, experience taught us to take them in a separate form, as when we took salt with various kinds of food. The instinct of animals impelled them to go and do likewise. A model diet consisted in the employment of the proper balance of the various constituents he had named, and they should all be present in certain proportions. If this was neglected, evil followed, either from direct deprivation of certain constituents or indigestion—as in poor people—from an effort on the part of nature to supply its needs by excessive eating of some of the other forms of food. There was no single article of food perfectly balanced except milk, and that only for growing young people, because for old people it contained too much nitrogen. Eggs, perhaps, came next in being properly balanced. Where people had to live on an unbalanced diet, the quantity they required to eat, in trying to strike a balance, was enormous. The lecturer then proceeded to deal with animal food and the proper method of preparation for human consumption, and described the characteristics of good and bad meat. He also referred to bread, potatoes, and other food of a similar nature, and dwelt at considerable length upon the necessity of good cooking, pointing out how the various articles of diet should be treated, and the importance of regular meals as opposed to indiscriminate eating. The lecturer further addressed a few words to the audience on the use and abuse of alcoholics and tobacco; and as to tobacco, he said that moderate smoking soothed a person when excited, refreshed him when fatigued, and helped men to digest food, to do brain-work, and to bear hunger and privation; while the abuse of the "fragrant weed" caused a variety of evils which seriously affected health.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES OF THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

Last night the Rev. H. J. Rose, chaplain with the late Contingent, delivered a lecture at the New Masonic Hall, on "Personal Experiences of the Soudan Campaign." The Primate occupied the chair, and the Revs. Canon King, Relton, Yarnold, and Murphy, Messrs. Rolleston, C.M.G., and Uther occupied seats on the platform. About 300 persons attended the lecture, the proceeds of which are to be devoted towards payment of the debts on the parish of Christ Church, St. Leonards. The chairman in introducing the lecturer said that although in Mr. Rose's presence, he must say a few words with reference to the services he had rendered, both to the Contingent and to the whole of the community. Mr. Rose was comparatively a stranger to many churchmen here, but was a very old acquaintance of his, and he had watched his career in England in what he (the chairman) might call the first theological college of the old country, and also in the variety of experience to be derived from hard work in a London parish. When he came to this colony he invited Mr. Rose to find new fields of work here, and that gentleman had endeared himself to their hearts. When, after much difficulty, the Government was persuaded to take the step of sending chaplains with the troops, a step which those now approved who at first were most strongly opposed to it——(applause)—after consideration he solicited Mr. Rose to accept the charge. He (the chairman) took the present opportunity of recounting publicly the many assurances he had received, both from Colonel Richardson, and other officers, as well as from the chaplain-in-chief connected with the forces, that it was impossible to speak too highly of the work performed by Mr. Rose, both for the temporal and spiritual welfare of our men, and not for ours only, but for the others with whom they were brigaded. He mentioned that because he knew Mr. Rose would not refer to it. Mr. Rose, on rising, met with a very cordial reception. After some introductory remarks he said that, speaking after four months' experience of both colonial and English troops, he would assert that, when they considered the composite character of the troops sent to Egypt, and the fact that they had had but little united training or drill, they worked shoulder to shoulder in a way astonishing to the English troops, and worthy of the blood flowing in their veins. (Applause.) When the chaplains arrived at Suakim they were at first told they were in the way. Chaplains hold positions equal to the commissions of captains, lieutenant-colonels, or majors, and the New South Wales chaplains were under control of the officer commanding the Contingent, or, in his absence, of the officer commanding the artillery, and they acted under orders from the senior chaplain. Their duty was to organise services on Sundays, to visit the sick and wounded in hospital, &c. The lecturer proceeded to refer to the voyage from Sydney to Suakim, which he characterised as a very pleasant time. Some few of the men might have been of opinion that they were going to take part in an enormous picnic, but his belief was that most of them were actuated by noble motives. Differences of religious opinion did not interfere with his relations towards the men, by all of whom he was always courteously welcomed. Parade service was held on the quarter-deck on Sunday at 10.15 a.m., according to the Queen's regulations. They had an excellent choir of 40 or 50 voices, and sometimes the hymns and canticles were accompanied by the band, the service lasting about three-quarters of an hour. They also held voluntary services on the Iberia, and these were very bright. The amusements on shipboard also formed the subject of reference, and then Mr. Rose spoke of the arrival at Suakim, the cordial reception the troops met on landing on Palm Sunday, and their joy in anticipation of taking part in an expected engagement. The men were ordered at once to the front, but the New South Wales chaplains were not allowed to accompany them, and it was several days before they rejoined the troops at Handoub, whither they proceeded by convoy, never after leaving our men till they left them at Victoria Barracks. The lecturer frequently had from 800 to 1200 men for a congregation, drawn up in hollow square, the service lasting from 20 to 30 minutes; and when in the front they used to get up an evening service by getting a dozen men or so to sing a hymn, when others would collect round them, forming a congregation. There were few sights in the desert more suggestive than holy communion. The table on that occasion would be a drum, and there all distinctions of rank were forgotten as the general and the soldier knelt side by side to receive holy communion. The hospital accommodation was beyond criticism, and when a man became sick he was made the object of most vigilant care and tender nursing. There were the field hospitals, the hospital at the base, and then the floating hospitals; but the Ganges hospital ship was par excellence the first. The water they had for drinking at Handoub was distilled at Suakim from the sea, and when it reached the troops was black in colour and offensive in smell, on account of the large quantity of ammonia held in solution. After the experience in the front, and the uncertainty connected with their movements, they were glad to get back to Suakim and embark for home; but after the hardships they had undergone they were very little inclined for amusements. Up to the time of receiving Mr. Dalley's telegram on their arrival at Albany they were not certain that the Contingent would not be ordered back again. After referring to the disappointment of the men on being quarantined, and to the generous welcome on their return to Sydney, Mr. Rose said that the despatch of the Contingent had been of incalculable benefit to those who took part in it; the action of New South Wales had not been without its influence on foreign nations; it had shown that blood was thicker than water, and that England, by accepting the services of the Contingent, had relegated the very idea of separation into the distant future. When the history of the Contingent came to be written, two distinguished names would be associated with its history and success—those of the Hon. W. B. Dalley and Colonel Richardson. (Prolonged applause.) On the proposition of Mr. Rolleston, seconded by the Rev. Canon King, a vote of thanks was passed to the lecturer, and a similar compliment to the chairman terminated the proceedings.

PHARMACY.

Last evening Mr. Edwin Quayle delivered, in the Pharmaceutical Society's rooms, 142, Phillip-street, the second of a course of lectures on "Pharmacy, Chemistry, Materia Medica, and Toxicology." Mr. Larmer occupied the chair, and there was a very good attendance of students and others, who listened to the lecture with great attention throughout. After a few preliminary remarks, the lecturer dealt with some 16 or 20 typical prescriptions, drawing attention to the various points to be noticed, and clearly explaining the correct methods of dispensing the prescriptions. Speaking, then, on the subject of the incompatibility of drugs, the lecturer treated it under the heads of chemical, pharmaceutical, and therapeutical incompatibility, fully illustrating the important points, and bringing under the notice of his auditors the laws of chemical incompatibility. Posology was the next subject considered, attention being drawn to a number of points of importance under this heading. Remarking on the subject of mixtures, the lecturer spoke of the solubility of different drugs, pointing out to students the simplest plan for obtaining a proper knowledge of this important subject. The different excipients used for the purpose of emulsifying drugs were then dealt with; after which, the lecturer drew attention to a number of other points worthy of notice in the dispensing of emulsions. Insoluble ingredients in mixtures were next spoken of, and rules quoted for the thickness of mixtures; after which, flavouring agents and diluents were considered, the lecturer remarking that he should speak of a number of other points in the dispensing of mixtures in his next lecture. A cordial vote of thanks was, on the motion of the chairman, unanimously passed to the lecturer.

THE WORLD OF THE MICROSCOPE.

Owing, probably, to the fact that the weather cleared somewhat last night, the attendance at the lecture given at the Masonic Hall, by Dr. J. E. Taylor, F.G.S., F.L.S., was larger than had been the case on any previous lecture given here by Dr. Taylor. The well-known editor of Science Gossip has made for himself a name which is known and respected by English-speaking people in every quarter of the globe, and has attracted and pleased large audiences wherever he has lectured in South Australia and Victoria; and had it not been for the almost continuous rain which has prevailed since he commenced his season in Sydney, he would have done well here. He certainly deserves to do well, for he conveys to his hearers in easy, conversational style a great deal of information which they would have to read many books to gather, and which as given by him is intelligible and easily assimilated. The subject he dealt with last night was "The World of the Microscope," and for an hour and a half the doctor discoursed upon it eloquently. He commenced by describing the constituents of protoplasm, which is the physical basis of life, in the smallest fungus as well as in the pine which towers above the tallest church spire; in the gelatinous amœbæ, minute enough to dance upon the point of the sharpest needle, as well as in the most gigantic whale. The microscope had, he said, done for life what the telescope had done for worlds, and made us acquainted with the infinitely little. The structure and multiplication of the cells containing living protoplasm—the building materials of life—were described; and Dr. Taylor then pointed out how in mud, in moss, and in water tainted with some organic infusion, living particles could be detected by means of the microscope. Specially interesting among them were the amœbæ, little gelatinous creatures, without mouths or stomachs, unable to move about quickly, and often changing their very form. Messrs. Dollinger and Drysdale, two noted scientists, had watched these creatures with an immensely powerful microscope for 36 consecutive hours, and had proved that they obtain subsistence by enveloping their food and so digesting it. The protozoa were then referred to in graphic terms, and an eloquent peroration brought an unusually clever "science gossip" to a close. To-night Dr. Taylor will lecture upon "The World Before Man," and his treatment of this subject is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by those who have already heard his discourses upon other scientific subjects.

CENTRAL ASIAN QUESTION.

On the evening of the 14th instant a lecture on the "Central Asian Question" was delivered by Mr. James Inglis, late Commissioner for India, in the Presbyterian Church, Balmain West. The Rev. George Grimm, M.A., presided. There was a very large attendance notwithstanding the wet weather. The lecture bore evidence of ample research, and contained numerous telling extracts from the leading authorities on this burning question. The stealthy aggressions of Russia, made under cover of the most solemn assurances to the contrary, were pointed out by the aid of a diagram. The Foreign Office was blamed for not making an earlier stand against these wholesale annexations in Central Asia. It was stated that every invasion of India had been by way of Merv and Herat, and the importance of holding the latter place was strenuously insisted on. With all her greed of territorial acquisition, Mr. Inglis was of opinion that Russia cared little comparatively for India, but her real object was to be in a position to strike down the power of England there when the time should arrive to seize Constantinople and dominate the Bosphorus—events, which if successful, must reduce Britain to a second-class power, and utterly ruin her prestige. The lecture was listened to with great attention, and frequently applauded. On the motion of Mr. Daniel M'Alpin, a very cordial vote of thanks was awarded to the lecturer.

COMMERCIAL.

PRODUCE MARKET.—Thursday.

At Darling Harbour terminus this morning, fair supplies of wood and forage were offered. The attendance at the sales, owing to the inclemency of the weather, was small. Buyers of forage showed no disposition to do business, and the market was excessively dull. Hay, chaff, and straw were unaltered. There was a moderate competition for all descriptions of wood. On the wharfs a small supply was received, comprising chiefly consignments from the Northern rivers, but stocks are likely to be supplemented to-morrow. Business, as usual on Thursdays, was quiet and of an unimportant nature. Operations were on a limited scale, being confined to potatoes, onions, maize, and dairy produce, especially butter and cheese. The following prices were realised at Darling Harbour sales:—

Wood.—Fair market. Moderate sales of all descriptions at per ton:—Billet wood, 10s to 14s 6d; bundle, 11s to 15s 6d; foot, 14s to 16s; bakers', 12s to 14s 6d.

Hay.—Fair supplies. Owing to previous heavy arrivals and buyers having sufficient stocks, the market this morning exhibited no improvement, but remains dull. Oaten in bundles, 3s 11d to 5s 2d per cwt; bales, 3s; lucerne, in truss, 4s 3d; bales, 4s to 4s 10d; wheaten, in bundles, 3s 6d.

Straw.—A slightly improved demand was noticeable this morning, but prices were unaltered. Moderate demand at 3s to 3s 1d per cwt.; bales, 2s 9d.

Chaff.—Moderate consignments. Demand was confined to prime qualities, but other sorts were neglected. Oaten, in bags, 4s to 4s 10d per cwt.

On the wharfs the following are the wholesale quotations:—

Maize.—No fresh arrivals, but stocks are likely to be augmented to-morrow. Market firm at 3s per bushel.

Oats.—This market exhibited but little animation. Full supplies, and prices unaltered. Moving off slowly at 2s 1d to 2s 3d per bushel for feed. Seed quoted to 2s 6d.

Barley.—No change under this head. Market inactive. Nominal value of Cape seed, 3s to 3s 3d per bushel.

Bran.—Ample stocks. Moderate inquiry at 12½d to 1s 1d per bushel. Business by auction at Messrs. Mort and Co.'s sale at 1s.

Pollard.—Market quiet at 12½d to 1s 1d per bushel. At Messrs. Mort and Co.'s auction sale to-day sales made at 11d.

Hay.—Moderate consignments forward from the Hunter River this morning. Stocks equal to requirements. Trade was inactive. Prime lucerne, £4 10s to £4 15s per ton; other qualities, from £3 15s to £4.

Chaff.—The balance of the previous shipments keeps the market fairly supplied. Additions to stocks expected to-morrow. Moving off at £4 15s per ton.

Onions.—No fresh arrivals, but stocks are likely to be supplemented to-morrow. Selling at £4 to £4 5s per ton for Victorian.

Potatoes.—Stocks diminishing, but supplies are expected to-morrow. Steady sales of Circular Head at £3 15s to £4 per ton; New Zealand, £3 10s.

Butter.—No change under this head, the standard quotation of Illawarra being 2s 3d per lb for keg; roll, 2s 6d; intercolonial packed, at 10d to 1s 8d.

Cheese.—Moderate supplies and fair demand for colonial at 6d to 8d per lb; special brands to 9d.

Bacon.—Ample stocks. Hand-cured Southern at 8½d to 10d per lb.; machine-cured 7½d to 8d; Northern rivers, 6d to 9d. Hams, 10d to 1s 1d.

Lard.—Finely rendered in bladders at 7½d to 8d per lb.; coarse in keg, 4d to 6d.

Honey.—Good and clear at 5d to 5½d per lb.; other sorts, from 3½d.

Eggs.—Additions to stocks expected to-morrow. Market quiet at 1s 7d to 1s 9d per dozen.

Poultry.—Supplies expected to-morrow. Fair demand for all varieties at per pair:—Fowls, 3s 9d to 4s 6d; ducks, 3s 6d to 4s 6d; geese, 7s to 9s; turkeys, 7s to 15s.

FAT STOCK SALES.

At the Homebush fat stock sales to-day, 1239 head of cattle were yarded. Owing to the large number forward prices declined, especially those for medium qualities. The best lot of bullocks averaged £8 18s, others from £4 9s 4d per head. Cows at proportionate rates. 15,330 sheep were penned. The market ruled very dull and prices fell from 1s to 1s 6d per head. The best lot of sheep sold to 15s 6d per head, others from 7s 3d per head. At the City Yards there was a small supply of fat lambs forward, principally of inferior quality, and prices ruled firm. Quotations, 7s 9d to 12s 6d per head. The market for fat calves was well supplied and prices are easier, which realised 6s 6d to 45s per head. Pigs at 11s 6d to 66s per head. The following sales are reported:—By Messrs. Pitt, Son, and Badgery:—1985 wethers, for A. Gibson, 9s 1d to 9s 3d; 378 ditto, for H. Acraman, 7s 8d to 8s 9d; 900 ditto, for J. A. Badgery, 8s 5d to 8s 10d; 222 ditto, for P. Cosgrove, 7s 3d to 7s 9d; 346 ditto, for J. C. Henderson, 8s 3d to 8s 6d; 77 lambs, for J. C. Henderson, 9s to 9s 1d; 403 wethers, for Southern agents, 8s 1d to 9s 7d; 145 ditto, for H. Taylor, 9s to 9s 1d; 161 crossbreds, for H. Taylor, 9s 4d to 10s; 100 wethers, for W. A. Lucas, 9s 6d to 11s 6d; 100 ditto, for Southern agents, 7s 8d to 8s 3d; 42 crossbreds, for W. H. Honey, 9s 6d; 51 merino wethers, for W. H. Honey, 9s 5d; 100 wethers, for Southern agents, 8s 1d; 157 bullocks, for Cudmore, Swan, and Co., £8 18s; 59 cows, for Cudmore, Swan, and Co., £6 5s 3d; 30 ditto, for J. Chisholm, £7 17s 9d; 55 bullocks, for W. Carpenter, £7 5s 3d; 43 cows, for T. H. Cullen, £4 2s; 26 ditto, for Southern agents, £4 16s; 20 calves, for the estate of the late H. Newcomen, 30s; 17 ditto, for R. C. Cooper, 41s; and 8 yearlings, £3 4s 6d; 108 lambs, for J. J. Fallon, 10s 7d. By Messrs. Brunker and Wolfe:—For G. Loder, 68 bullocks, £5 8s 9d, 74 cows at £4 15s 5d; for W. F. Buchanan, 85 bullocks at £5 18s, 37 cows at £6 2s; for J. and W. Thompson, 58 bullocks at £6 8s. By Messrs. Harrison, Jones and Devlin, Limited, at the Homebush fat stock sales:—Account M'Kenzie Bros., 51 bullocks at £8 16s 9d, 24 cows at £6 7s; for P. H. Osborne, 26 bullocks at £5 14s 9d, and 15 cows at £4 16s; on account of C. A. Massey, 500 wethers from 8s to 9s 1d; for W. Moreland, 9 crossbred ewes at 16s, 52 ewes at 11s 2d, 73 ewes at 8s 9d, 61 lambs at 11s 1d to 11s 8d, and 205 wethers for J. D. Carrigan. By Messrs. Wilkinson, Graves, and Lavender:—Fat sheep: 1300 merino wethers and 140 crossbred ewes for Messrs. Horsley and Seaborn; 1300 merino wethers for executors D. Peters, 10s 5d to 10s 6d.; and a draft for Wilson, to 9s 10d. By Messrs. Hill, Clark, and Co:—1300 wethers, for Messrs. J. Gibb and Son, at 10s 4d to 11s 6d; 49 wethers, for R. Webb, at 9s 3d, 61 lambs at 8s 9d to 9s 2d; 300 wethers, for James Cass, at 8s 5d; 32 bullocks, for Messrs. Cobb and Co., at £6 18s 5d; 51 bullocks, for Messrs. Onus and Keys, at £4 9s 4d; 188 bullocks, for Messrs. Morgan and Watkins, at £7 6s 2d, 12 cows at £5 13s 9d. By Messrs. Griffiths and Weaver:—1120 wedders, for Hon. Chas. Campbell, at 8s 10d to 9s; 1096 wedders, for W. Douglas, at 8s 2d to 8s 7d. By Messrs. T. Sullivan and Son:—85 bullocks (T. Howitt, jun., averaging £6 15s 4d; and 44 cows (same owner), at £4 10s 5d. By Messrs. Dransfield Brothers:—8 bullocks, for P. J. Byrne, at £9 18s 7d, 2 cows at £7 14s; 500 sheep, for A. Dempsey, from 8s 7d to 10s, 80 lambs to 12s; 400 sheep, for C. Carr, from 8s 6d to 9s; 257 sheep, for N. Bournholt, at 10s 1d to 15s 6d, 12 lambs at 10s to 12s. And at Corporation yards, Sydney: 9 bullocks, for R. G. Writers in the London Lancet call attention to the great value of hot-water applications to the head in cases of fainting or syncope. They say, also, that a prompt use of it, applied to the forehead with cloths, will very often avert such attacks.

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH MAIL AT ALBANY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

ALBANY, THURSDAY.

The P. and O. Company's R.M.S. Parramatta, Captain Anderson, arrived from Colombo this morning. The following are her passengers:—

For ALBANY: Sir John Coode and Mr. and Mrs. Ingleby.

For GLENELG: Mr. and Mrs. Goir, jun., and 3 children, Rev. M'Queen, Messrs. Hanson and Sutton, Misses Williams and Levir.

For MELBOURNE: Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy and 2 children, Mr. and Mrs. Le Souef and child, Mr. and Mrs. Child and 4 children, Mr. and Mrs. Conran, Messrs. O'Hara, Percival, James, Tonkin, Miss Barraclough, Rev. Wilson, Captain Wylley.

For SYDNEY: Miss Hawkins, Captain Millard, Messrs. Keats, Somerville, Gregory, Doehling, Coode, Mayers, Horner, M'Farlane, and Anderson.

For NEW ZEALAND: Mr. Strathy.

There are 27 passengers for all ports in the other classes.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

LONDON, JUNE 12.

At a meeting of the Colonial Institute on the 9th, Mr. Howard Vincent read a paper upon the British Empire, in which he reviewed in eloquent terms the wealth and prosperity of Canada and Australasia, the activity and enterprise of their inhabitants, and proceeded to dwell upon the resources and progress of India, South Africa, and the West Indies; in fact, M. Vincent left no part of the British dominions unmentioned. In conclusion, his argument was to urge the necessity of Imperial federation. The difficulty was to lay down lines for a scheme until the question had been carefully weighed by a commission drawn from all parts of the Empire. The invitation must proceed from the mother country. The moment is auspicious for taking up the matter. Federation should be founded upon the only possible lines of fair representation and an absolute union of political, social, commercial, naval, military, and colonial side by side with internal independence. Mr. Murray Smith expressed great hope of the attainment of federation. The Duke of Manchester, who is the president, protested against the colonies being represented in Parliament only by agents.

The defeat of the Ministry on the second reading of Mr. Childers' modified Budget was a great surprise; 251 Liberals voted out of the 331 forming the party. The defeat of the Government was clearly due to these abstentions, and many excuses have since been made, the majority of the absentees affirming that they were not aware of the importance of the occasion. 222 of the 246 members composing the Conservative party supported the amendment of Sir M. Hicks-Beach. The whole of the Parnellite party and three Liberals voted with the majority. It appears that even without the defeat in the Commons the Ministerial crisis would not have been averted, since the Cabinet were quite unable to agree on the question of the renewal of the Crimes Act. Sir Charles Dilke and Mr. Chamberlain firmly maintained their opposition to the renewal, and would probably have withdrawn from the Cabinet this week or next. The Conservative victory of Monday being solely due to the Parnellite support and Liberal abstentions, it is thought impossible for Lord Salisbury to assume power unless assured of a fair support from the Liberal leaders. The Pall Mall Gazette protests against any harassing and factious tactics on the part of the Liberals in Parliament, and urges fair play being given to the Conservative Administration in all executive matters, particularly in questions of vital interest to the Empire; such, for instance, as Zanzibar, which seems now directly menaced by Germany.

The Queen sent yesterday for Lord Salisbury, who started at once for Balmoral.

The Conservative papers, although declaring that their party might well shrink from accepting such a legacy of confusion and disaster as the Liberals have left behind them, believe that the Conservative leaders cannot refuse to take office, onerous though the burden may be. In any case the new Ministry can only be regarded as a provisional Government until November, when the elections under the Reform Bill will be held.

In the Liberal camp the defeat of Monday seems rather to be hailed with satisfaction than otherwise; in fact, accusations are not wanting that the affair was pre-arranged, and the Times, commenting upon this impression, declares that Ministers are bound to endeavour to obtain from the Commons a practical reversion of the decision accidentally obtained, and a distinct assertion of unabated confidence from the Liberal party; otherwise how can the Cabinet justify their resignation to the Queen, or defend themselves against the charge of having availed themselves of incidents which, to say the least, they took no trouble to avert, in order to escape from responsibilities or to involve their rivals in difficulties, without caring for the consequences to the Empire?

The British Government has annexed a great tract of country comprising Bechuanaland proper, and a strip of territory to the north reaching as far as the Portuguese border, thereby extending British authority to the 22nd parallel of south latitude. The Transvaal is thus cut off from such district, Mashunaland lying between its northern border and Zanzibar.

TRIAL OF A DUELLIST.

A remarkable trial, possessing especial interest for duellists, was tried at Douay, in the north of France. In February last a M. Dekeirel was amusing himself at Dunkirk during the Carnival, together with his younger brother and some friends. His brother was accompanied by a masked female, one of a troupe of café concert-singers. The merry party went into a café during the small hours of the morning, and while they were partaking of some refreshing potations a M. Chapuis, who was disguised as a clown, came and sat near the masked female, who wore a black domino. M. Chapuis rendered himself rather obnoxious to the black domino, who somewhat facetiously summoned one of the waiters to take away her tormentor "on a plate." The elder M. Dekeirel now remonstrated with the importunate Chapuis, who persisted in continuing his attentions to the prima donna from the café concert. Chapuis resented the interference of Dekeirel, to whom he gave his address-card, he being a lieutenant in the 110th Regiment of the Line. Dekeirel called him a scoundrel, and offered to fight him. A temporary truce was, however, patched up by another officer, who was acquainted with the two disputants. It was soon broken by some observations of M. Chapuis which were overheard by the younger Dekeirel and promptly retailed to his brother. M. Dekeirel accordingly sought out Lieutenant Chapuis anew, and asked if it were true that he said he had not given an apology. To this Chapuis replied in the affirmative, whereupon Dekeirel retorted that his conduct was unworthy of a French officer, and insisted upon a written apology or a duel. The duel was agreed to, but there was a difficulty about the weapons. Dekeirel chose the pistol, but his seconds were rather frightened by a fire-eating and vapouring Lieutenant Badouin, who insisted upon army revolvers being chosen, and 25 paces as the distance, the combatants to fire the six balls until (as Lieutenant Badouin coolly and characteristically observed) "a result ensued." This warrior also intimated to M. Dekeirel's friends that the duel was not to be an affair which would simply startle the sparrows, but a fight to the death between man and man. Finally swords were chosen. M. Chapuis appeared on the ground, which was in Belgium, smiling and sure of victory. He was the best swordsman in his regiment. M. Dekeirel wore his shirt and trousers during the fight, the officer retaining only his nether garments. The civilian commenced the attack, and Chapuis lunged at his stomach; but the sword passed under his legs. The officer was sure he had touched his adversary, but the latter showed that such was not the case. The combat recommenced, and Chapuis fell, pierced through the lungs, crying out that he had been what was called in duellists' parlance "half murdered," as Dekeirel had held his adversary's sword with his left hand. Chapuis died after four days' agony. Both doctors and duellists from Paris have drawn up long reports on the subject, and some of the most expert swordsmen in the metropolis, including M. Vigeant, M. Tavernier, and M. Alfonso de Aldama, have given their opinions. The accused, Dekeirel, who is about 30 years of age, in the course of his examination by the presiding judge, said that he could not explain the motion of his left hand, which had been interpreted by his antagonist as an attempt to catch the latter's sword. He denied having made any such attempt. He also stated that he was not conversant with fencing terms, although it had been proved that he was wounded in a former duel. A doctor testified that his left hand had been cut by coming in contact with Chapuis's sword. It appears that Chapuis, although he boasted a good deal, had had but one duel, which he fought with a Prussian officer, and that he was only an average fencer. M. Dekeirel was acquitted.

OUR BRISBANE LETTER.

BRISBANE, JULY 11.

I do not know whether our new session of Parliament is to "go out like a lion;" it has certainly "come in like a lamb." Anything flatter than the debate on the address in reply I do not remember for many years. There was nothing much to criticise in the speech, which, as you have seen, contains principally promises of measures which are useful but not sensational; and the Government plea, that more time must be given before a fair judgment can be passed on the policy inaugurated last session, is an unanswerable one. There was not very much said about the late Labour Commission—rather to my surprise—though there were several attacks on its constitution. Mr. Buckland, M.L.A., was declared to have been a known and avowed opponent of coloured labour, and Mr. Milman had not only given a strong opinion on the Forest King case, but was also believed to be thoroughly infected with missionary prejudices. But as there was no effort to seriously deny the substantial justice of the verdict, these attacks on the constitution of the Court go for little.

It may be as well to mention at this point that the bill compensating the employers has been read a first time and tabled. It provides that the employers may send in claims not only for the actual expense to which they had been put in importing the islanders, but for damage done by the loss of their services. The claims are to be made by a tribunal consisting of a District Court Judge and two assessors—one nominated by the claimant and the other by the Government—and the verdict of the assessors, if they agree, is to be final. If they disagree the Judge is to decide.

The promised bill to regulate the drink traffic is to include local option. This will probably lead to some angry disputes, but as yet we do not know which shape the Government project is to take. The Additional Members Bill has been tabled. It gives an additional member to Fortitude Valley, a district of Brisbane which is very much under-represented. It also gives an additional member to the squatting district of the Mitchell, which is to be divided, and two additional members to the electorate of Townsville. The lastnamed electorate embraces a great district, including Herberton and other mining centres, and the sugar districts of the Johnstone—all settlements formed since the electorate was laid out. Townsville city, which has grown enormously during the last few years, is to have two members; and the district, to be named Musgrave, is to have one.

The worst feature of the debate was the insinuation thrown out by Ministers that their political opponents were implicated in the stock-jobbing machinations by which our last loan was depreciated. It is apparent from the letter which appeared in the English papers that the anonymous assailants of our credit used an unfortunate phrase in our Treasurer's last statement to assist their manœuvres; but they also added a great deal of matter of their own. Mr. Morehead, who plays here the part of your Mr. M'Elhone—a somewhat cultured M'Elhone—made a rather wild onslaught on the Chief Inspector of Stock for having published an interim report of the loss in sheep last April. Mr. Gordon's statement showed that our stock had diminished on the 1st January by 1,800,000, a total which was somewhat decreased by subsequent returns. There is of course some doubt as to the figures, which, in a season like that of last summer, must be mainly estimates; but they are the most accurate attainable, as they are the sworn reports under the Diseases in Sheep Act, furnished by each station. Mr. Morehead declared the loss to have been two and a-half times greater, and asserted that Mr. Gordon had issued a false return, by direction, to deceive the public. There is I think very little foundation for the estimate Mr. Morehead put on our sheep stock at the first of January last, and not the shadow of a foundation for his charge against the Premier and Chief Inspector of Stock. The only other features of the debate worth notice were Sir Thos. M'Ilwraith's unqualified condemnation of the Soudan expedition, and Mr. Hume Black's statement of the planter's grievances, and his assertion that the separation movement was healthy and growing.

The kerosene test employed under Act of Parliament here has of late given rise to no small amount of discussion amongst those in the trade. Over 20,000 cases have been condemned, as the oil could not be heated to the required 110° without flashing when a light was applied; but it is contended by those interested that all this oil has already passed a higher test in America. The law, however, was made for the protection of consumers, not for that of traders, and the Government have very rightly refused to allow the oil to pass into use. Some tests have, it is said, been conducted in the presence of the Colonial Treasurer which prove that our system is a very defective one, inasmuch as the flashing point can be altered according to the time occupied in bringing the oil to a given temperature. It has also been shown to be affected by the heat of the oil and of its water jacket at the beginning of the test operations. Inquiries are now being made by the Government with a view of selecting a more reliable test, and from what has lately been published it seems clear that the open-cup system which we employ is quite out of date. It is quite as likely to err on the side of admitting oil not up to the standard, as of rejecting that which is good; for if the oil is heated very slowly, a large proportion of the inflammable vapour passes off into the air.

It may be remembered that at the time our gunboats were being built in England, the Colonel Treasurer entered into negotiations with the authorities there to ascertain whether one of them might be used as a survey ship, in work about to be jointly undertaken by the home and colonial Governments, on the north-eastern coast of Queensland. It was ultimately agreed that the Paluma should be especially fitted up for this work, and that her large bow gun should be sent out by some other vessel. The strained relations between Great Britain and Russia have caused some delay in carrying out this arrangement; but a few days ago the Paluma landed her stern gun and got ready for sea. Yesterday she left Moreton Bay to begin work on the coast from Hinchinbrook Island northward. Nothing has yet been heard of the mode in which the other gunboat, the Gayundah, is to be employed. She is manned by a crew furnished by our own Naval Brigade, and the men will no doubt benefit greatly if the original proposal of our Government to lend the vessel to the Admiralty for service on the Australian station is accepted.

The union of the city and suburban local governing bodies for the control of the traffic has thus far been productive of no practical good. The united municipality has been in existence for several months; but as yet the bylaws are not finally adopted, and for some time past there has been absolutely no control of the traffic. You may drive a four-in-hand round any street corner in Brisbane at full trot, you may crowd an omnibus till there is not room for a small boy on the step behind or on the knife-board, or in front, or you may drive a heavy dray on the wrong side of the most crowded street in town, and, so far as civic authority goes, no fear of the law need be entertained. The delay in bringing the new authority into operation has largely arisen from petty jealousies between some of the members, and if they could see their way to lay these aside it would be much better for the safety of life and limb in Brisbane.

It is not to be expected that our watering-places should have many visitors during the exceptionally cold weather now prevailing, but those most interested in them are making every preparation to be ready for the season when it comes. Southport is certainly in the front rank of these health resorts at present. Notwithstanding the state of the weather, there are a good many visitors, and several additions to the hotel accommodation are in progress or contracted for. A new steamer is being purchased for the passenger trade between Brisbane and Southport, a distance of something like 60 miles, mostly through the sheltered waters of the southern part of Moreton Bay. Redcliffe, on the northern shores of the bay, is likely to make some progress this coming season, as the prospects of railway communication are improving, and it is stated too that the coal measures said to exist in this locality within a few miles of deep water are being tested by means of boring apparatus. The old familiar Sandgate is, it is said, rather dull at present; but though not so attractive as some of the other places, it has the advantage of nearness to the metropolis, which with railway communication will always ensure it a large population in the season. It is noticeable that the committees of both the General Hospital and the Children's are at present seeking to establish homes for convalescent patients at Sandgate.

The annual meeting of the Children's Hospital, held on Thursday last, brought to light the fact that this really valuable institution is in a flourishing condition so far as funds are concerned. A handsome and costly building has lately been built and opened, yet the committee have nearly £1500 in hand, and the building of a sanatorium for the children will soon be entered upon at Sandgate.

Of the religious world it may be noted that Miss Arnold has just finished her course of meetings held to advocate the cause of the Zenana Mission to India, and the total subscriptions are said to have reached £116: but a small return for he amount of energy displayed. The Hebrew congregation in Brisbane laid with due ceremony on Tuesday last the foundation-stone of a synagogue, the first to be erected here. Though it is now more than 20 years since the first Hebrew congregation met for worship in Brisbane, they have hitherto always met in hired buildings; but a handsome building, to cost about £5000, is now to be erected in Margaret-street. It should be mentioned, too, that some mean but unreasoning thieves took the trouble to raise the corner-stone the night after it had been laid, and to abstract the bottle that contained the memorial of the building. The coins that had tempted them proved, to their disappointment and disgust, no doubt, to be worth no more than 7s.—a poor reward for their labour and the risk to which they must have exposed themselves.

NEW CALEDONIA.

We translate the following items of news from files of papers received:—

The New Hebrides Company has received information that it has obtained a guarantee of its rights over the properties possessed by it in those islands.

The "Fête Nationale" to be celebrated on Sunday and Monday last was made the occasion of much projected pleasure-making. At sunset a salute of 21 guns was to be fired, and at 8 o'clock in the evening a grand military torchlight procession. The following day flags were to be hoisted and another salute fired, and at 8.30 there was to be a review of the military forces by his Excellency the Governor. After midday there were to be horse-racing and public sports. The soldiers were to receive extra rations, and there was to be merrymaking throughout the colony. In the evening balls were to be given by the municipal authorities to the children, and afterwards to the citizens of Noumea.

It is stated that the Director of the Interior has asked the agent of the A. S. N. Company if the company is disposed to continue to call in at Noumea, as in the past, in connection with the line from Brindisi to Sydney. The contract between this company and the Administration will expire in November. The agent will submit the proposition to the Sydney directory.

It is stated by L'Indépendant that very reassuring news has been received in the colony apropos of the mining question. The administrative council of the Nickel Co. have approved of all the measures taken by M. Higginson. M. Rothschild congratulated him upon the result at the Hotel Mirabeau, and opened a credit for the society in the Bank of Australasia. It is probable that the approbation of the council of administration applies also to the modifications which M. Higginson has contemplated introducing in the working of the nickel, consisting of the construction of large blast furnaces, thus securing a great reduction in the cost of labour and transport. Referring to this paragraph, Le Progres states that the particulars referred to are incorrect. It says that it is not true that the company at Paris has approved of all the measures taken by M. Higginson. On the contrary that gentleman has been treated even roughly.

The attention of the public in the island has been occupied by the elections for the General Council, fixed for the 26th of the present month.

The commercial situation is not ameliorated, but still remains paralysed.

By the last boat of the Messageries Maritimes Company, rumours have been circulated in town of such a nature as to produce a feeling of uneasiness among the cattle-breeders, or a lesser or greater number of them. Baron Digeon, chief of the Franco-Australian Society, has telegraphed to one of his friends or employers that the department will probably refuse its approbation to the contract concluded with the house of Jouve and Co., according to the tender made by it for furnishing the Administration with butcher's meat.

The Ministry has approved the resolution of the General Council for the vote of the budget of 1885, relative to the impost of 100 per cent. as a tax upon opium introduced into New Caledonia, and also relative to the increase of the licenses for public-houses.

Rather grave news has been received from the New Hebrides. The natives of Mété, of whose hostile attitude information was previously given, continue to menace the manager of the station of Anabron at Port Vila and the settlers established in the neighbourhood of this station. Here is what the agent of the company wrote on the 16th June:—"During the month they assaulted me with volleys of stones on approaching their island, and some days afterwards they turned back a courier whom I had sent to the settler Sicard. They threaten to turn this same Sicard off his selection. Finally, yesterday, at some distance from Mété they met my boat, in which was the settler François. They told him they had come, believing me to be on board, for to kill me and seize my goods. It was only by chance that I was not assassinated that day."

THE MELBOURNE HATTERS.

(From the Melbourne Telegraph, July 13.)

A deputation—consisting of Messrs. Shaw (Denton Mills), J. H. Turner, T. Shelmerdine, F. Condit, J. Millikin, and others connected with the felt-hatting industry—waited on the Premier on Tuesday, with reference to the depressed state of the trade. Mr. J. Laurens, M.L.A., was to have introduced the deputation, but did not arrive until after the interview had commenced.

Mr. J. H. Turner said the deputation represented the felt hat trade—an industry of comparatively recent origin here, for 10 years ago it did not exist. About £100,000 was invested in it, it gave employment to from 400 to 500 persons, and an annual sum of £25,000 was paid in wages. It had always been a struggling industry, and was now handicapped by the importations from other countries; so much so that the industry, or at least a portion of it, would have to go to the wall. At present there were men in the trade who had been out of employment for 10 weeks, and who had poor prospects of obtaining any work. A deputation which waited on the Premier last year had been told that something would be done for them, although it was too late to include the question in the budget then in preparation.

Mr. T. W. Brown, the president of the Felt Hatters' Association, said the trade was in a greatly depressed state, and had been so for the last six months. Out of 300 journeymen employed in the colony, not 50 had been in regular employment for three weeks past. Some of them had come from Europe and America, and those who were able had returned, while others had gone into the country to seek labour. A meeting of the association had been held last week, at which it was resolved to ask for an increase of duty upon the imported hats. There were eight factories in Victoria, and of these not one was doing any work, save for perhaps two days in the week. The trade, which had been bad at this time last year, was never in so wretched a state before.

Mr. Service said he had received some statistics from the Custom-house, which showed that in 1883 the number of hats imported was 227,071, valued at £38,764, while in 1884 the number was 171,963, valued at £31,995. The difference was more than a quarter of the wages paid in the colony, and the duty on the hats was £12,862, one-third of their value. If the trade could not flourish with a duty of 30 per cent. on the imported article, he did not think it would flourish at all. In the face of these figures, it was extraordinary that the trade should be in so depressed a state.

Mr. Brown explained that the trade could hold its own against everything but the finer class of men's hats.

Mr. Service considered the trade should be much better off than last year, and the reductions should have considerably increased the wages fund of the trade, whereas only £25,000 a year was paid, which averaged scarcely 20s. per individual.

Mr. Turner said there were more factories and men in the industry than last year, yet the trade was never so languishing.

Mr. Service: That, perhaps, is the reason it is so.

Mr. Turner said such might be the case; but the deputation was suggesting a remedy in asking for an increased duty on men's hats, the present rate, 15s. per dozen, being altogether inadequate.

Mr. Service said it was impossible to alter the tariff this session.

Mr. J. Millikin pointed out that the case of the hatters was one of need and great urgency. He said that many men who had come here to better themselves, had returned to their native countries, but many were prevented from doing so for want of means. He thanked God he was an American, and could do well if he got home.

Mr. Shaw said the difficulty arose in the price paid for fine felt, and in endeavouring to compete against Belgium, where the journeymen worked for 12s. a week and 14 hours a day. When he started business two years ago, he made 57 dozen hats a week. Now it had dropped to 13 dozen.

Mr. Service said if he imposed a prohibitory duty the excess of production would cause the same result. He could not ignore the outside producer altogether. He was sorry that at present he could see no chance of introducing any amendment. To alter the tariff was a work of six or eight months, and such as the Government could not now take up.

The deputation then withdrew.

HOW INDIANS CATCH EAGLES.—Among the Indians the most highly prized article of adornment is eagle feathers. They not only use them for making headdresses and ornamenting their blankets, but use them as money in the purchase of firewater, tobacco, and other necessaries of Indian life. Among the Blackfeet the mode of catching them is interesting. After holding an eagle dance the braves repair to the mountains, where each one digs a pit and covers it lightly with reeds and grass. A piece of tough buffalo meat done up in a wolfskin is laid on the pit. After the sun is risen the eagle swoops down, alighting on the wolfskin, which he begins to tear. The Indian, who is concealed in the pit, reaches out stealthily, seizes the bird by its legs, and drags it into the pit, where he crushes its breast with his knees. The return of a successful party is the occasion of great rejoicing, and the plumage of the American bird of liberty graces the topknot of a greasy Indian.

SYDNEY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

A special committee meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council took place yesterday afternoon, in the Council Chamber, in order "to inquire into the duties of the officers, superintendents, and men employed by the Council." The Mayor occupied the chair, and the following gentlemen were present:—Aldermen Buckle, Hart, Lees, Dean, Kippax, John Young, Beare, Burdekin, Chapman, Hardie, M'Mahon, D. O'Connor, Meeks, and J. D. Young.

The usual fortnightly accounts for work done and goods supplied were examined, and ordered to be paid.

The following is the statement of the financial position of the Municipal Council of Sydney for the week ending 15th July, 1885:—City fund, Dr., £25,236 5s. 6d.; water fund, Cr., £8452 4s. 5d.; sewerage fund, Dr., £1678 14s. 1d.; Sydney Common fund, Cr., £8974 11s. 4d.; cattle saleyards, Cr., £1008 6s. 9d.; Town Hall loan fund, Dr., £1922 2s. 4d.; streets loan fund, Cr., £47,810 6s. 4d.; balances, Dr., £28,837 1s. 11d.; Cr., £66,245 8s. 10d.; streets loan fund, fixed deposit, Cr., £100,000; water fund, fixed deposit, Cr., £50,000; Government guarantee sewerage fund, retired by Government and due to city fund, Cr., £75,000; Sinking fund, cattle saleyards, Cr., £3007 12s. 8d.; sinking fund, cattle saleyards, invested, Cr., £5000; sinking fund, Town Hall loan, Cr., £1134 14s. 2d.; sinking fund, Town Hall loan invested, Cr., £12,400; sinking fund, streets loan, Cr., £2310 7s. 9d.; sinking fund, streets loan, invested, Cr., £3800.

Alderman CHAPMAN gave notice of his intention to move at the next financial meeting, a resolution to the effect that a sum of money should be apportioned to Mr. Butterfield, assistant town clerk, who had held the position for a period extending over 30 years. He suggested that Mr. Butterfield should be paid a sum equivalent to a month's salary for each year of service.

Alderman DEAN said he would support Alderman Chapman's resolution. He (the speaker) was sure that the Municipal Council had never had a better or more faithful servant than Mr. Butterfield.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG did not agree with the two former speakers as to the amount to be given. He agreed with them that Mr. Butterfield had been a good officer, but he thought it was hardly right for him to fall back upon the purse of the citizens in this way. He, however, would like to see him get some recompense for his long and honourable services.

After some discussion, Alderman HARDIE moved,—"That the council be recommended to grant a sum of £500 as an allowance to the assistant town clerk."

Alderman BEARE seconded, and the resolution was agreed to.

At this stage of the proceedings, Alderman JOHN YOUNG requested permission to withdraw the motion which had been tabled by him—viz., "That a special meeting of the council be called to inquire into the duties of the officers, superintendents, and men employed by the council." He said he wished to withdraw the motion because he had been informed that the Mayor was making inquiries with reference to the duties of the officers of the council, and he understood that a report dealing with the question would be presented to the aldermen shortly.

After discussion, the required permission was granted, and the motion was withdrawn.

No other business was transacted.

TRAM FARES TO PADDINGTON.

A meeting of the ratepayers and residents of the Borough of Paddington was held at the local Council Chambers, last night, for the purpose of taking into consideration the desirability of impressing upon the Government the necessity of extending the twopenny section of the Paddington tram line to Elizabeth-street, the chief centre of traffic in the borough. The chair was occupied by the Mayor, Mr. J. P. M'Gunne, and there was a good attendance, amongst those present being Messrs. Butcher and Garrett, Ms.L.A., R. T. Kirby, and J. C. Neild. The Chairman, in commencing the proceedings, briefly explained the object of the meeting, and also read a letter from the Hon. W. J. Trickett, in which that gentleman stated that he was unable to attend the meeting, but that he fully sympathised with its objects and would be prepared to support any reasonable proposition. The following resolution moved by Mr. R. T. Kirby and seconded by Alderman W. Brown was unanimously carried, "That in the opinion of this meeting the charge of 1d. extra tram fare from Begg-street to Elizabeth-street is excessive, and unjust to the greater portion of the residents of Paddington, and also detrimental to the profitable working of the said line." Mr. T. Cummings moved the following resolution,—"This meeting respectfully requests the Hon. Minister for Works to extend the first section of the tram to Elizabeth-street, that being the great centre of traffic, and submits that such extension will obviate much inconvenience and tend to the more profitable working of the line." The resolution was seconded by Alderman Watson, and was unanimously carried. It was urged by the various speakers that the proposition to extend the section was a reasonable and just one. The distance, it was pointed out, was only some 300 yards from the termination of the present section, and it was contended that if the concession was granted it would be the means of increasing the revenue, inasmuch as many who now walked the distance instead of paying the extra fare, and others who took their luncheon in town, would use the tram, and thereby the traffic would be considerably increased. It was then resolved that a deputation, consisting of Mr. Butcher, M.L.A., Messrs. R. T. Kirby, T. Cummins, and Aldermen Brown and Campbell, should wait upon the Minister for Public Works with the foregoing resolutions. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Mayor, on the motion of Mr. Butcher, M.L.A., seconded by Mr. T. Garrett, M.L.A., after which the meeting terminated.

CAST IRON PIPES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In Mr. Luscombe's letter, which appears in to-day's Herald, there is a rather startling statement. He says: "It will be found that even those pipes of Macfarlane and Co. will eventually cost the country from £50 to £75 per cent. over and above the contract price." It would be interesting to know how Mr. Luscombe arrives at this conclusion. Does Mr. Luscombe expect the public to believe that the difference between landing the pipes at Circular Quay instead of at Darling Harbour, and the omission of certain "iron rings," will come to £60,000 or £90,000? Such tall talk as this does not strengthen his influence or promote the interests of his party.

I am in no way connected with the firm of Macfarlane, Strang, and Co., and know little about Mr. Morison Stewart, so cannot be accused of being false to my fellow-citizens when I tell Mr. Luscombe that, instead of the £60,000 being cribbed out of the public purse, the colony will save that amount or more by importing the 20,000 tons of cast-iron pipes. Mr. Luscombe, being a member of Parliament, can easily satisfy himself upon this point.

In the first place, there was not a foundry firm in this colony had the necessary plant for turning out such a quantity of cast-iron pipes within the limited time. There is no pig iron manufactured in this or any of the other colonies; consequently that had to be imported. But to make a comparison, would Mr. Luscombe ascertain from the Works Department the price per ton paid to the Atlas Foundry Company for cast-iron cylinders which are cast in segments, do not require to be tested, and are not coated with Dr. Smith's solution? Then put that rate alongside the rate paid to Macfarlane and Co. for their pipes, and you will find that considerably over £60,000 is saved.

In Victoria £9 per ton is paid for cast-iron pipes manufactured in Victoria (the paradise of protectionists). Compare that figure with what importers get for pipes in this colony.

Until we can make our own raw material it is nonsense to expect ironfounders to compete with the old country in such big lines as 20,000 tons of cast-iron pipes. With the exception of ordinary blacksmith's bar iron and light section rails made from scrap iron, this colony produces nothing that can make a bridge, roof, or aqueduct. It is a shame that such should be the case with millions of tons of the very best iron ores, manganese, coal, and limestone inviting us to transform them into rails, plate-iron for boilers and bridges, sheet iron, and wire.

Let Mr. Luscombe agitate till he forces the Government to make use of its own resources, and he will do a vast deal more good than snapping at the heels of importers, of whom I am ONE.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Are admitted by thousands to be worth a GUINEA a BOX for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as wind and pain in the stomach, sick headache, giddiness, fulness and swelling after meals, dizziness and drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, loss of appetite, shortness of breath, costiveness, scurvy, blotches on the skin, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams, and all nervous and trembling sensations, &c. The first dose will give relief in 20 minutes. This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For females of all ages these pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them carry off all gross humours, open all obstructions, and bring about all that is required. No female should be without them. There is no medicine to be found to equal BEECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.

For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the liver, they act like "MAGIC," and a few doses will be found to work wonders upon the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action with the ROSEBUD of health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are FACTS admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the nervous and debilitated is BEECHAM'S PILLS have the largest sale of any patent medicine in the world.

BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS.

As a remedy for Coughs in general, asthma, difficulty of breathing, shortness of breath, tightness and oppression of the chest, wheezing, &c., these Pills stand unrivalled. They speedily remove that sense of oppression and difficulty of breathing which nightly deprive the patient of rest. Let any person give Beecham's Cough Pills a trial, and the most violent cough will in a short time be removed.

CAUTION.—The public are requested to notice that the words "Beecham's Pills, St. Helens," are on the Government Stamp affixed to each box of the Pills. If not on, they are a forgery.

Prepared only and sold wholesale and retail by the proprietor T. Beecham, chemist, St. Helens, Lancashire, England, in boxes at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers throughout the Colonies.

N.B.—Full directions are given with each box.

TO THE LADIES OF SYDNEY.

The Season of Balls and Parties is now at its height, and everywhere Ladies can be seen peering curiously into shop windows to find out where the Prettiest and Cheapest Novelties are to be bought. No lady should go home without inspecting the window of HORDERN BROTHERS, Pitt-street. It is literally full of everything that is New and Charming. There may be seen lovely SATINS in all shades of Cream, Blue, Eau de Nil, &c.; and the prices are as astonishing as the colours are beautiful. The Duchesse SATINS are 1s 11d per yard, and the richest Dress SATIN, wide width, only 3s 6d. Also pretty BROCHES, in newest designs, at 2s 11d, 3s 11d, 4s 11d, and 5s 11d. No other house can show such a large variety. For Trimming and Ornamenting these Fashionable Materials can be seen in an assortment of FLOWERS that is positively dazzling. Every Flower, from the simple Primrose to the most gaudy Orchid, is represented; and one look will convince every lady that in Paris, and Paris alone, could such dainties be made.

Especial attention is directed to the Pretty and Cheap COSTUMES displayed; and, if they are not just what is wanted, HORDERN BROTHERS have a first-class DRESSMAKER, who can suit every taste and every purse. Ladies need not fear to give an order, as it is no more expensive to have a dress made than to buy a ready-made one. Such a large Staff of Assistants is kept, that all Orders are Immediately Executed.

It is impossible to give a detail of all the Pretty Things in their windows, but every lady who looks will be charmed into buying something she will inevitably be pleased with.

THE WILLCOX and GIBBS AUTOMATIC SILENT SEWING MACHINE.

LADIES careful of HEALTH and appreciating the BEST should have no other.

HEBBLEWHITE and CO., 416, George-street, Sydney.

WHY DO YOU CALL IT THE AUTOMATIC? Because the wonderful and simply-contrived self-adjusting tension does away with all regulating by the operator. The reel of cotton, just as you bought it, is placed on the spool pin, and the thread simply passed under the tension, which rises automatically once for every stitch. This releases just enough thread, and draws in the slack, so as to leave the stitch neither too tight nor too loose, no matter what material you change to or what size cotton you use. No wonder, then, this machine is such a favourite with all who use it.

Government Notices.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th July, 1885.

K O G A R A H.

PETITION FOR A MUNICIPALITY.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication, in accordance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, of the substance and prayer of a Petition addressed to His Excellency, and signed by 300 persons, praying that their locality therein described may be erected, into a Municipality under the name of the "Municipal District of Kogarah."

ALEX. STUART.

The Petitioners state that they are persons who, upon incorporation, would be liable to be assessed for Municipal rates in respect of property or household residence.

That the population of the proposed Municipality is at least 1100, and the area thereof is about 6 miles.

That the following are the boundaries proposed, viz.:—

Commencing at the intersection of the Illawarra Railway Line with George's River on the northern bank of the said river; and bounded thence by the said railway line to a point between Arncliffe and Rockdale Stations where the said railway line meets the Gannon's Forest-road; thence north-easterly by the south-eastern side of the said road to the western boundary line of the West Botany municipality; thence bounded on the east by the said western boundary line of the West Botany municipality to the waters of Botany Bay; and thence on the south by the waters of Botany Bay and George's River, to the point of commencement.

And the Petitioners therefore humbly pray that "that his Excellency will be pleased to deal favourably with the foregoing."

COWS, HEIFERS, and BULLS.
Just Landed, from New Zealand, ex Wakatipu.
From the CELEBRATED STUDS of Messrs.
P. C. NEIL, Esq., Clingford
GEORGE GRAY RUSSEL, Esq., Peninsula and the
Hon. W. J. M. LARNACH, M.L.C., The Camp, N. Z.

BROWN BROS. and CO. have been favoured with instructions from Messrs. A. and J. M'Farlane, of Dunedin, N. Z., to sell by auction, at their City Horse and Cattle Bazaar, Castlereagh-street, on TUESDAY, July 21st, at 2 p.m.,
15 pure-bred Alderney cows and heifers
3 ditto ditto bulls.

BROWN BROS. and CO. would beg to draw special attention to the fact that the above choice cattle are ALL BY PURE-BRED BULLS, and OUT OF IMPORTED COWS, and include the famous imported cow, QUEEN OF GLENFALLOCH, who has never been beaten in any show ring.

The Cattle are now on view at the Bazaar, where catalogues may be had at any time upon application.

N. B.—The Dunedin Daily Times of July 4th instant comments most favourably upon the above choice lot of cattle, and specially remarks, "The animals are without exception of most excellent pedigree and character," and regrets it is really a pity that they are leaving the colony.

AYRSHIRES, AYRSHIRES, AYRSHIRES.
Ex Wakatipu, just landed from New Zealand, from the celebrated stud of K. B. FERGUSSON, Esq., DUNEDIN.

BROWN BROS. and CO. have been favoured with instructions from K. B. FERGUSSON, Esq., WAITATA FARM, New Zealand, to sell by auction, at their City Horse and Cattle Bazaar, Castlereagh-street, on TUESDAY NEXT, the 21st instant, at 11.30 a.m., 30 pure bred choice Ayrshire cows, heifers, and bulls.
The above choice lot of cattle come direct from Mr. FERGUSSON'S STUD, who has been a most successful breeder of Ayrshires in New Zealand, being a constant prize-taker at the principal New Zealand shows.
The cattle are now on view at the Bazaar, and catalogues may be had upon application.
N.B.—The sale of the above stock will afford studmasters and others an opportunity of securing cattle of undeniably good blood and character that may not occur again for some time.

Also, on account of Mr. Fergusson, two pure Clydesdale fillies, 4 years old, by Messrs. Nimmo's stud horse Emperor, by Napoleon (imported), both from prize dams, and bred by the vendor.
The above fillies are stinted to Comet, and have worked in the plough.

PAIR HANDSOME PONIES, HARNESS, and PHAETON.

SYDNEY STUD SHEEP SALES.

FRIDAY, 17th July, 1885.

WILKINSON, GRAVES, and LAVENDER will hold their ANNUAL SALE of STUD SHEEP at the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company's Stores, Bridge-street, Sydney,
THIS DAY, 17th JULY, when they will offer for sale, on account of
M. J. ROBERTS, Esq., ALAMEDA CO., CALIFORNIA,
34 pure American merino rams
30 pure American merino ewes, and a number of their lambs.

Also, on account of A. G. JONES, Esq.,
Bogo Bogolong,
About 76 pure Romney Marsh rams and ewes. This is a magnificent lot, and to sheepbreeders going into that valuable and highly remunerative class of sheep for lamb-breeding and quickly maturing as heavy fats this sale presents a rare opportunity.

Also,
On account A. G. JONES, Bogo Bogolong,
About 66 pure Ercildoune rams and ewes. The blood of these sheep is too well known to eulogise.

For full particulars of the above see catalogues.

1100 HEAD CATTLE.

THIS DAY, FRIDAY.

TO CAPITALISTS, TRUSTEES, MANUFACTURERS, IMPORTERS, and others.

SPLENDID CITY BLOCK
in
GEORGE-STREET WEST.

Close to various important points of traffic, viz., the railway, Regent-street, Kensington-street, Harris-street, and Darling Harbour, and being right in the throng of the immense foot and vehicular traffic, which almost uninterruptedly continues throughout day and night along this great highway.

THE FRONTAGE is 66 FEET to GEORGE-STREET WEST, a few yards west of Harris-street, and the DEPTH is considerable, viz., 132 FEET.

On it are various tenements, let under old leases:
No. 9, to Messrs. Goodist and Smith, timber merchants
No. 11, to F. Webster, tobacconist
Nos. 13 and 15, to Mr. C. D. Smith, confectioner.

Seeing the great stride in business life which is being developed at this end of the great artery of the city,
GEORGE-STREET, and the progressive expansion that must naturally take place in a FRONT POSITION LIKE THIS SPOT, almost the converging point of several important thoroughfares, the attention of those looking for a VALUABLE COMMERCIAL STAND or a permanent investment by the erection of shops and dwellings—as well as the speculator and trustees—is invited to this site which will afford an opportunity to acquire with prospective large increment in value.
A CITY PROPERTY

The sale is to enable the accounts of the Trust Estate of the late HENRY MACDERMOTT, Esq., to be closed for division.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street,
THIS DAY, FRIDAY, 17th JULY,
at 11 o'clock,
The above exceptionally well-positioned large block of city property, George-street West.

PENRITH.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

At length the GREAT HORNSEY WOOD ESTATE
is released from all difficulties that have hitherto stood in the way of its realisation
BY SUBDIVISION, and is now clear of all claims for annuities and other charges.
The title is perfect, and stands
UNCHALLENGEABLE
in the name of Anthony Tindale, Esq., under a CERTIFICATE OF TITLE
granted by the
REAL PROPERTY ACT.
This large block of freehold land, which for so many years has by its position and unimproved state so materially interfered with the progress and prosperity of Penrith, will now be thrown open to
PUBLIC COMPETITION on a LIBERAL SUBDIVISION,
and the well-known surveyors, Messrs. ATCHISON and SCHLEICHER are busily engaged in preparing plans and marking out the first section of the property, which it is intended to offer for sale by public auction at an early date.

The subdivision, which is arranged with great liberality as to frontages, will embrace fronting High-street, in the very heart of the town.
BUSINESS ALLOTMENTS
VILLA and COTTAGE SITES, on the gently rising slopes forming the backbone of the estate.

ORCHARD AREAS,
of good soil, and DAIRY FARMS,
the latter extending to an area of 20 acres, entirely free from intersection by roads or streets.

The portion to be first offered commences at the corner of the MULGOA-ROAD, and extends along
HIGH-STREET
to DOONMERE-STREET,
the whole of which occupies the best positions in the town, and is within a few minutes' walk of the PENRITH RAILWAY STATION.

Questions of Title, if any, are referred to Messrs. JOHN DAWSON and Sons, Solicitors to the Estate, No. 88, Pitt-street.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from ANTHONY TINDALE, Esq., to sell by public auction, ON THE GROUND,
near the well-known COMMERCIAL HOTEL, on a Saturday afternoon about the end of August proximo, the date of which as well as the time of sale will be notified in a few days,

The above extensive and valuable Freehold Property.

Full particulars will be published shortly, when inspection of the sale plan will be invited, and copies in lithograph will be obtainable on APPLICATION at the Rooms.

TERMS will be very liberal, viz.:—10 per cent. cash deposit at time of sale 15 per cent. cash within three months, without interest; and the balance may be paid by promissory notes, at 1, 2, and 3 years date, having interest added thereto at the rate of 6 per centum per annum.

Arrangements will be made to convey intending purchasers to Penrith on the day of sale by SPECIAL TRAIN, and for which tickets for the double journey will be issued on application.

Refreshments will be on the ground.
